Using an interdisciplinary framework, the International Studies Program explores the interactions among peoples and nations that are separated by cultural and geopolitical boundaries. This field draws on the insights and findings of the social sciences (Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Geography and Anthropology) as well as History, Literature and the Arts. Students in this area master information about the origins and development of different peoples and nations, the patterns of conflict and cooperation that have shaped the relationships between nations, and issues and problems that affect the future global order. This program is designed to equip students with perspectives and skills to successfully meet challenges of any international career, including law, diplomacy, business, communication, education, public service, and research.

The International Studies Program offers concentrations in either English-(standard) or Spanish (Bilingual Professional Preparation). Within the standard concentration, students work with an advisor to devise a set of concentration courses that focus the program in a direction they desire. In the Spanish concentration, the course of study is fixed and students receive pre-professional counseling in law or business.

LIBERAL STUDIES PROGRAM

In addition to the 32 quarter hours required in the liberal studies core, students are required to complete 52 quarter hours distributed through six learning domains as part of their Bachelor of Arts degree in international studies. The number and distribution of courses in each of the areas are as follows:

Core: 32 quarter hours required

- First Year Program: (20 quarter hours required) Discover Chicago or Explore Chicago, Focal Point Seminar, Quantitative Reasoning, and Composition and Rhetoric I and II.

- Sophomore Seminar: (4 quarter hours required) Sophomore Seminar on Multiculturalism in the United States

- Junior Year Experiential Learning: (4 quarter hours required) If your junior year experiential learning requirement also fulfills a major field requirement, you may substitute a liberal studies domain elective (from outside your major field area) or the third course in the modern language option for this requirement.

- Senior Capstone: (4 quarter hours required) International Studies requires that all students majoring in International Studies complete the senior capstone in International Studies. If you are double majoring and/or in the Honors program you must also follow the capstone guidelines for that area.

Arts and Literature: 12 quarter hours required. At most 2 courses from the same department or program.

- Philosophical Inquiry: 8 quarter hours required.

- Religious Dimensions: 8 quarter hours required; 4 quarter hours in patterns and problems, and 4 quarter hours in traditions in context.

- Scientific Inquiry: 12 quarter hours required; 4 quarter hours with a lab component, 4 quarter hours with a quantitative component, and 4 quarter hours scientific inquiry elective.

- Self, Society and the Modern World: 8 quarter hours required. Students must register for ECO 105 Microeconomics and PSC 150 Political Systems of the World.

- Understanding the Past: 4 quarter hours required; course must focus the time period before 1800 from a category outside of students area of specialization.

Courses offered by the department of International Studies are not applied towards liberal studies requirements for the international studies major. Exceptions to this rule are the junior experiential learning and the senior capstone requirements. The program offers students an experiential learning course, INT 389 International Social Engagement, to all students. This course can be used in the Liberal Studies Program or the major, but not both. The senior seminar, INT 301, is the liberal studies capstone for international studies majors. It is required as part of the major field requirements. All students completing an international studies major must complete the capstone offered by the International Studies Program. Major in the Honors program must complete INT 301 and the honors senior capstone. Double-majors must complete INT 301 and the capstone in their second major, if that major requires them to do so. Double majors who are also in the Honor Program must complete INT 301, the honors senior capstone, and the capstone in their second major, if that major requires them to do so.

In addition, the three-course language sequence requirement (see below) of the international studies major may substitute for two domain courses and one open elective. The option reduces the requirements by one course among two of the following combinations of learning domains: Philosophical Inquiry or Religious Dimensions; Understanding the Past or Self, Society, and the Modern World; Arts and Literature or Scientific Inquiry (cannot substitute for the lab science requirement). International studies majors have an additional elective in the liberal studies program in place of the senior capstone. It is recommend that students use this line for the third term of their language requirement for the major.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

In the first year at DePaul, students are encouraged to take a year of a language and as many liberal studies courses as possible. In their second year, students take INT 201 Emergence of the Modern Nation State, 202 International Conflict and Cooperation, and 203 International Movements of the 20th Century, as a sequence, in addition to language and liberal studies courses. Honors students should complete all two course sequences by the end of the second year. In the third year, they take INT 204 International Political Economy, 205 Cultural Analysis, and 206 Boundaries and Identities. During the last year at DePaul, students take INT 301 Senior Seminar or a research internship abroad.

Students take courses in the following allied fields, preferably before the end of their second year. These courses can be taken to fulfill Liberal Studies learning domains within the limits established by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Economics: 106 Macroeconomics and 105 Microeconomics. The program recommends that students whose math assessment indicates that they should take MAT 101 and MAT 130 before taking science courses should also put off taking economics courses until those math courses are completed.

Political Science: PSC 150 Political Systems of the World or HON 201 State, Markets and Societies.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

The minimum requirement is course work through the 106 (Intermediate) course in a language of the students choice. Proficiency in a foreign language can also be demonstrated by examination. However, International Studies students are expected to gain fluency in the language and to continue studying it beyond the intermediate level. Students are strongly urged to continue their work in a language through a foreign study program.

STANDARD CONCENTRATION

The purpose of this concentration is to provide students with a depth of knowledge in an area that is meaningful to them. Some of the more common themes that students have focused on in the past include area studies of various regions (European studies, Latin American studies etc.), topical studies (international political economy, war and peace, etc.), and integrated studies (Emerging Societies, Trading Blocks, Global Environmental Issues). Students are urged to wait until after they have completed the six 200-level courses before selecting their first concentration course. In consultation with an advisor, the student chooses six courses for their concentration. Advisors are assigned when the student enters the program. Before the advisor is assigned, the program director serves as advisor for every student. Constructing the concentration is an important part of helping the student gain the most from the program. All concentration courses must be justified in writing before registration. Advisors must sign the student's justification for taking concentration courses. Forms for doing so are available from advisors. These forms are filed with the program director, who certifies the student for graduation only when the forms are filed.
SPECIAL PROGRAMS

MINOR

The minor concentration in International Studies provides the non-major with an overview of the origins and development of peoples and their nations, patterns of conflict and cooperation that have shaped relations between peoples, and problems that affect the future global order. The following sequence of six courses totaling twenty-four credit hours is required.

International Studies: 201 Nationalism; 202 International Cooperation and Conflict; 203 International Movements of the 20th Century; 204 Cultural Analysis; 205 International Political Economy; 206 Boundaries and Identities.

FOREIGN STUDY PROGRAMS

All International Studies majors are encouraged, but not required, to participate in Foreign Study programs. There is no other internship experience that can better prepare one for international work than foreign study. The undergraduate years are the appropriate time to undertake this immersion in another culture. DePaul University's Foreign Study program works closely with the International Studies Program in formulating opportunities for students that are intellectually rigorous and linguistically appropriate. Currently, ten- to fifteen-week programs are offered annually in France, Spain, Italy, Germany, England, Hungary, Poland, Mexico, Japan and Zimbabwe. The programs in Europe and Japan can often be extended to a full year.

EUROPEAN COMMUNITY RESEARCH INTERNSHIP

Seniors who show a strong commitment to European Studies can apply to participate in the program's research internship in the European Community Commission's offices in Brussels. This four-month, intensive research experience is organized through the Irish Institute of European Affairs at the Catholic University of Leuven and is the only one of its kind for U.S. students. It is especially appropriate for students going to graduate school in some aspect of European Studies.

Other internationally-oriented internships are available abroad, in Washington and in the Chicago area.

COURSES

All courses carry 4 quarter hours credit.

INT 201 THE EVOLUTION OF THE MODERN NATION STATE This course focuses on the complex relationship between race, gender, ethnicity and nationality and explores how this relationship shapes the evolution of the modern state. The historical consolidation of the nation state and the development of national institutions are analyzed, using examples from both 19th- and 20th-century Europe and the contemporary Third World. This course is the first in the required three-course sequence. For that reason, it is open to declared majors and minors only. Other students may take the course on a space-available basis, with the permission of the director. PREREQUISITE(S): Sophomore major or minor status, or permission of the instructor.

INT 202 INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT AND COOPERATION This course analyzes the nature of power in the international arena, conflicts that emerge among nations, and processes through which conflict may be resolved. Simulation of the Paris Peace Conference of 1919 is used as an instance of the difficulty encountered in constructing international systems. PREREQUISITE(S): INT 201.

INT 203 INTERNATIONAL MOVEMENTS IN THE 20TH CENTURY This course evaluates the major social movements that have shaped international developments in the 20th century. Includes discussion of fascism, nature and varieties of socialism, colonization and decolonization of the Third World. PREREQUISITE(S): INT 202 or permission of the instructor.

INT 204 CULTURAL ANALYSIS This course introduces the student to the models and logic of cultural analysis. Building on experiences from the previous courses, it offers students the opportunity to explore a problem of meaning in their everyday lives. Students acquire greater confidence in dealing with cultural issues.

INT 205 INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY Topics discussed include the theory of comparative advantage, trade, immigration, alternatives to neoclassical trade theory, the third world debt crisis of the 1980s and 1990s, global financial institutions, and macroeconomic stabilization packages. PREREQUISITE(S): ECO 105 and ECO 106.

INT 206 IDENTITIES AND BOUNDARIES This course explores how identity formation is shaped by cultural, historical, and political construction of barriers, borders, and boundaries, and how such formations are intertwined with ethnicity, race, nationality, gender and class.

INT 301 SENIOR SEMINAR Combines formal class work and independent research. Raises philosophical questions about the nature of and prospects for a new international order, and discusses appropriate methodologies for the field. Culminates in a senior research paper. PREREQUISITE(S): Senior International Studies major status, or permission of the instructor.

INT 310 AFRICAN AREA STUDIES I A general interdisciplinary survey of the social, political, and economic institutions, and the cultural history of selected regions within the African continent.

INT 311 AFRICAN AREA STUDIES II A continuation of the survey of institutions and cultural history described in 310.
INT 320 WEST AND SOUTH ASIAN AREA STUDIES I A general interdisciplinary survey of the social, political, and economic institutions, and the cultural history of selected regions within West or South Asia.

INT 321 WEST AND SOUTH ASIAN AREA STUDIES II A continuation of the survey of institutions and cultural history described in 320.

INT 330 EAST ASIAN AREA STUDIES I A general interdisciplinary survey of the social, political, and economic institutions, and the cultural history of selected regions within East Asia and the Pacific.

INT 331 EAST ASIAN AREA STUDIES II A continuation of the survey of institutions and cultural history described in 330.

INT 336 CULTURES OF THE PACIFIC A survey of the social, political, and economic institutions, and the culture history of selected regions of the Pacific.

INT 340 EUROPEAN AREA STUDIES I A general interdisciplinary survey of the social, political, and economic institutions, and the cultural history of selected regions of Europe and the Soviet Union.

INT 341 EUROPEAN AREA STUDIES II A continuation of the survey of institutions and cultural history described in 340.

INT 350 LATIN AMERICAN AREA STUDIES I A general interdisciplinary survey of the social, political, and economic institutions, and the cultural history of selected regions of Latin America.

INT 351 LATIN AMERICAN AREA STUDIES II A continuation of the survey of institutions and cultural history described in 350.

INT 360 TOPICS IN DEVELOPMENT & ANTI-DEVELOPMENT A survey of the problem of endemic poverty in the Third World, together with a consideration of the various forms of public action designed to alleviate poverty. Considerable attention will be paid to the problems of rural poverty and the pitfalls and possibilities of industrialization.

INT 362 LANGUAGE AND THE POLITICS OF TERROR Politics is, among other things, the arena in which human bodies are broken. This course will concern itself with the breaking of human bodies through torture, genocide, war and poverty. Throughout, a focus will be maintained on the interface between bodies and language, on how bodies placed under extremes of pain and degradation lose their capacity for speech, and how language reaches its intrinsic limits in trying to represent bodies in pain.

INT 364 TOPICS IN INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY A course that offers students the opportunity to explore international trade issues in greater depth. (See schedule for current offerings.)

INT 365 TOPICS IN WAR AND PEACE A course that offers students the opportunity to explore security, war and peace studies in greater depth. (See schedule for current offerings.)

INT 366 TOPICS IN INTERNATIONAL LAW A course that offers students the opportunity to explore law and security issues in greater depth. (See schedule for current offerings.)

INT 368 TOPICS IN GLOBAL CULTURE A course that offers students the opportunity to explore global cultural studies in greater depth. (See schedule for current offerings.)
INT 371 INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL POLITICS This course examines the international processes by which scientific knowledge concerning environmental change and degradation is translated into action on the parts of individuals, groups, states, and global institutions. We look at the political, legal, economic and cultural structures that reproduce the global propensity to disrupt or degrade the environment and that likewise prevent amelioration.

INT 374 TOPICS IN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS A course that offers students the opportunity to explore the United Nations, the Organization of American States, non-governmental organizations, the European Union, NAFTA and similar trading blocks or organizations, and the policy issues associated with these organizations. (See schedule for current offerings.)

INT 380 INTERNSHIP PROSEMINAR In this phase of an off-campus internship, students develop a research agenda under the supervision of faculty that they will carry out during their off-campus residency. PREREQUISITE(S): Permission of the director.

INT 382 INTERNSHIP RESIDENCY (4-8 credit hours) This course should be used to register credit hours for both Chicago-based and off-campus residencies to complete internship agreements and approved independent research proposals. PREREQUISITE(S): Permission of the director.

INT 384 INTERNSHIP DIRECTED RESEARCH In this phase of an off-campus internship, students submit a research report to faculty and expand upon their experience through further research. PREREQUISITE(S): Permission of the director.

INT 388 SPECIAL TOPICS IN INTERNATIONAL STUDIES Special topics in International Studies.

INT 389 INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL ENGAGEMENT The course provides 20-25 hours of service learning opportunities for students in organizations that are pursuing local activities based on international missions or globally-informed policies. The course meetings focus on student experiences and a discussion of state, sub-state, and non-state organizational structures in the international context.

INT 390 GUEST SEMINAR Examination of a topic in international studies under the direction of a visiting professor.

INT 393 INTERNATIONAL STUDIES PRACTICUM Structured and supervised student participation in collegiate level simulations of international agencies, organizations, and conferences, including Model U.N., Model O.A.S., and others. Includes practical experience in agenda research, resolution preparation, and committee debate. The practicum extends through a single academic year. Students will register for the course in Autumn term. Four credit hours are earned at the end of the Spring term. PREREQUISITE(S): Permission of the instructor.

INT 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY (2-4 credit hours) PREREQUISITE(S): Permission of the director.
