De Paul College of Law

AN URBAN LAW SCHOOL

Located in the heart of Chicago's loop, De Paul College of Law has advantages which few other law schools possess. It is within short walking distances of the federal, state and county civil courts and most of the city's law offices. The excellent location permits De Paul's students to get a first-hand view of the working profession which they will soon become a part of. Many of the students, assisted by the school's Placement Office, find part-time and summer clerking jobs in area law firms. These clerkships often turn into full-time positions in private and governmental offices after graduation. De Paul's location also makes it easy to attract lecturers and speakers from the ranks of Chicago's bench and bar to supplement the school's fine academic programs. Each year, from eight to twelve specialized law courses are taught by practitioners who are regarded as experts in their respective fields of law.

COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITIES

While enjoying the advantages of an urban setting, De Paul fully recognizes that it also has responsibilities to the urban community, one of which is to serve all its residents. Toward this end, De Paul has initiated one of the most successful minority student programs in the country — a program which in its first year accounted for the admission of 30 new minority students. The program features an intensive six-week summer course in tort law and legal writing prior to the students' regular admission into full-time schoolwork. De Paul also conducts a weekly legal workshop for civic and business leaders of low-income Chicago communities; and senior law students are presently receiving academic credit while working with legal aid and public defender attorneys under Illinois Supreme Court Rule 711.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

The function of this bulletin is to familiarize students with the goals, policies, programs and other general information about De Paul College of Law. Its provisions do not comprise a contract between the student and the University. The University reserves the privilege to modify, amend or revoke any rules or regulations set forth herein upon due notice posted upon the official bulletin board of the College of Law. All students are held responsible for knowledge of all matters posted on the official bulletin board.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The College of Law has the objective of affording to the capable student adequate training in the fundamentals of law to guide him in the formation of sound moral and intellectual concepts; to develop an understanding and appreciation of the law in relation to the natural moral order and of its philosophical, social, political, and economic implications. The curriculum is designed to prepare the graduate to function ably in the legal profession and to serve as a foundation for his cultural and professional development beyond the academic period. The College also has the objective of making a contribution to general community welfare by aiding the continued professional development of those who are already admitted to the bar, by means of institutes and seminars and by actively fostering research and publication with a view to law improvement.

The first charter of DePaul University included a statement of non-discrimination. This policy, enunciated seventy-five years ago, has been enforced vigorously over the years. Students, faculty, and the public are entitled to equal treatment regardless of race, creed, color, or sex.
Building and Facilities

All of the College of Law facilities are located in the 17-floor Frank J. Lewis Downtown Center on the southwest corner of Jackson Boulevard and Wabash Avenue. In addition to the law school, the building houses the College of Commerce and the College of Music as well as a 500-seat auditorium, a chapel, a cafeteria, lounges and offices of the University's general administration. The University's other colleges and facilities, including residence halls, are located on the North Side campus, in the Lincoln Park area.

LAW LIBRARY

Located on the seventh floor of the Lewis Center, the law library contains more than 60,000 volumes as well as study and research space for more than 200 students. Of special interest in the library are the Nathan Schwartz collection of Letters and Documents of U.S. Supreme Court Justices and the Farthing Collection of Illinois Session Laws and Statutes, the latter being a gift of Paul Farthing, former Chief Justice of the Illinois Supreme Court, and his brother Chester H. Farthing.

The library is open to students and alumni from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday. It is directed by Robert Q. Kelly, who has degrees in both law and library science. The library is within easy access of the law school classrooms, which are located on the eighth floor of the Lewis Center, and of professors' offices, most of which are on the seventh floor to the rear of the library.

MOOT COURT ROOM

The Moot Court Room on the eighth floor is a replica of an actual courtroom, complete with judge's bench, witness stand, jury box and spectator seats. The attractive mahogany-paneled room is used by students to practice and develop trial and appellate advocacy skills. The room is a gift of John G. Sevcik, an alumnus of the College of Law and member of the University's Board of Trustees.

OTHER FACILITIES

The law school's administration offices and six classrooms are on the eighth floor of the Lewis Center. The classrooms, which vary in size from 35 to 120 seats, are air-conditioned and brightly-lit. The offices of the De Paul Law Review, the school's scholarly legal publication, are located on the 17th floor of the building.

As the University's $22.5 million “Program for Greatness” continues, the College of Law can be expected to acquire additional space while continuing to improve existing facilities.

THE LAW FACULTY

The College of Law's full-time faculty consists of men and women who have a variety of backgrounds and experience. The group is well-balanced in terms of age, training, philosophical views and teaching methods. As a supplement to their teaching duties, they participate in a wide range of civic and public service activities in the community and work on intra-school committees which assist the Dean in administering law school policies and programs. Several faculty members have authored casebooks and treatises in their respective fields of study. In addition to the full-time staff, from eight to twelve part-time law teachers are drawn each year from distinguished members of the local bar to teach courses in which current practical experience is considered important. They teach such courses as Income Tax, Trial Technique, Patent Law, and Law and Medicine.

Admission Requirements

UNDERGRADUATE WORK
A student is eligible for admission to the College of Law if he has completed at least $\frac{3}{4}$ of the work acceptable for a Bachelor's Degree in an approved college or university, with a scholastic average, based on all work undertaken, at least equal to the quality of work required for graduation in the institutions attended.

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST
Each applicant is required to take the Law School Admissions Test. The test is administered five times a year by the Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540, at convenient centers throughout the country.

Arrangements to take the Law School Admissions Test must be made directly with the Educational Testing Service. The test should be taken as early as possible during the year preceding the one for which admission is sought.

MINIMUM SCORES REQUIRED
Currently, a base score of 525 on the Law School Aptitude Test and 2.5 for undergraduate (out of a possible 4.0) is required for admission to the College of Law, though most of those who gain admission have records well above these scores. There may be a weighing where an applicant falls below the minimum in one and is above the minimum in the other. Also, such factors as class rank and exceptionally good grades for a year in important subjects may be considered in determining whether an applicant has the potential for successfully completing his law school courses.

APPLICATION FORMS
Application for admission shall be made on a printed form available at the Office of the College of Law. Students are admitted to the College of Law in September of each year.

VETERANS, FOREIGN STUDENTS
De Paul University is an approved institution for veterans' training. The veteran who wishes to enter the University should communicate with the Veterans' Coordinator, 25 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60604.

An applicant for admission from an institution located in a foreign country must present an original, official, and complete transcript and translation thereof of credits from the institution he attended. If these credits indicate satisfactory preparation for entrance into the College of Law, matriculation will be granted upon the recommendation of the Committee on Admissions and Degrees. In general, no advanced credit will be granted for law work completed in a foreign institution. Each application will be treated individually by the Dean.

CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS
Upon admission, a student is registered as either "Regular" — one who has met fully the entrance requirements of the College of Law, or "Student-at-Large" — one who is attending the College of Law on permit from another accredited law school. For administrative purposes, not related to admission, a student is classified according to progress toward graduation as follows:

DAY DIVISION
Freshman — One who has completed less than 27 semester hours.
Junior — One who has completed 27 but less than 54 semester hours.
Senior — One who has completed 54 or more semester hours.

EVENING DIVISION
Freshman — One who has completed less than 20 semester hours.
Sophomore — One who has completed 20 but less than 40 semester hours.
Junior — One who has completed 40 but less than 60 semester hours.
Senior — One who has completed 60 or more semester hours.

PROCEDURES FOR NEW STUDENTS
In order to be considered for admission, each applicant must proceed as follows:

1) Each applicant must submit to the College of Law, 25 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60604, a formal application for admission to the Law School, accompanied by a non-refundable application fee.

2) The applicant should obtain a registration form from the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS). A transcript from each college or university attended (including professional schools) should then be sent, not to the De Paul College of Law, but directly to:

   LSDAS
   Educational Testing Service
   Box 944
   Princeton, New Jersey 08540

   The LSDAS will analyze the transcript and send a copy to the De Paul College of Law and any other participating Law School the applicant designates on the registration form. If the applicant is accepted by the De Paul College of Law, he will be asked to submit to this law school a final transcript for any college work not completed at the time of submitting his registration form for LSDAS. Before that time, additional transcripts should be submitted only in response to a special request from this school.

3) The applicant should direct that an official copy of the Law School Admission Test score be submitted to the De Paul College of Law.

4) Upon receiving notice of acceptance, the applicant is required to make a deposit of $50 within the time stated in the notice. Unless this deposit is made, the acceptance will be cancelled in order that the place may be given to another applicant. The deposit is applied against tuition for the first semester of the first year. If the applicant does not enroll, the deposit is not refunded.

For additional information about application to law schools, see the official Pre-Law Handbook, 1971-72 edition, published in October 1971 and prepared by the Law School Admission Test Council and the Association of American Law Schools. This book includes material on the law and lawyers, pre-law preparation, applying to law schools, and the study of law, together with individualized information on most American law schools. It may be obtained at college bookstores or ordered from Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.
MINORITY STUDENTS

The College of Law has one of the most progressive and successful programs for minority students in the country — a program which in its first year, was responsible for the enrollment of 28 minority students. Open to Black, American Indian, Chicano, Puerto Rican and other Latin American students, the program is designed to qualify for admission minority students who might not otherwise meet the school’s usual admission requirements. The program consists of a ten-week summer course in a basic first-year subject, Torts I, and in the development of basic legal skills. Classes are held three nights a week, two hours each night. Upon satisfactory completion of the summer course, students are admitted to the College of Law as freshmen in September, with full credit being awarded for the course they took in the summer. For further information on the program, write to Leigh Taylor, chairman of Committee for Enrollment and Education of Minority Students.

ADVANCED STANDING

A student wishing to be admitted to advanced standing in the College of Law must produce certificates showing 1) graduation from high school or its equivalent, followed by 2) the completion of the pre-legal work required for entrance to De Paul University College of Law as a beginning law student, together with the average required from such beginning student. The law work for which such student is asking advanced standing must have been completed in a law school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools or on the approved list of the American Bar Association. A certificate showing the completion of such law work must be presented from the law school in which the work was taken, together with a statement from such law school that the applicant is in good standing. No student will be admitted from another law school unless he is eligible to continue the study of law at that school in good standing and without condition or qualification of any kind. His law record must be such as to indicate that he will be able to complete successfully work in the College of Law.

SUMMER SESSIONS

The College of Law conducts Summer Sessions in the Evening Division for students who have had two or more semesters of law study. Beginning students will not be admitted to the Summer Sessions. Detailed information is available in the spring.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING REGISTRATION

1. Each student is required to register in person during the regular registration dates as set out in the calendar. (Note: A Late Registration Fee will be charged.)

2. No student can receive credit for any subject taken in a class for which he has not been duly registered.

3. A student who would enroll for fewer than twelve hours or more than fifteen hours in the Day Division or for fewer than ten hours in the Evening Division must obtain the permission of the Dean.

4. In order to register in another college of the University, the student enrolled in the College of Law must have the permission of the Dean of the College of Law and also of the Dean of the other college of the University.

5. The College of Law reserves the right to cancel any course.

6. A student may not register if he is delinquent in his account to the University.
General Information

THE DURATION OF YOUR LAW STUDY

When you enter the College of Law you are commencing professional study, and you will find it more demanding of time and effort than your pre-law work. The length of time it will take you to complete the law course will depend upon the amount of time you are able to devote to it and not to the time of day when you attend classes.

If you are able to devote your full time to your law study, you may complete the course in the Day Division in six semesters, but if you are required to be employed more than twenty hours per week, then you may enroll in the Evening Division, carry the normal Evening program, and complete the course in eight semesters and a Summer Session.

Each Day Division student, when registering, will be asked to state the amount of his outside employment, if any. If it exceeds twenty hours per week, the student will be expected and required to carry a lighter program.

A Day Division student shall not be permitted to enroll for courses in the Evening Division without the Dean's consent.

ATTENDANCE AT CLASS

A student must regularly attend all classes in each course. Exceptions to this rule must have the written permission of the Dean.

Excessive absences may, in the dean's discretion, result in a student being withdrawn.

withdrawals

Any change of initial registration, including withdrawal from a course, may be permitted only upon obtaining written permission of the Dean.

EXAMINATIONS

Examinations are given at the end of each semester. In general, the examinations are made up of hypothetical problems and the student is graded on the basis of his ability to recognize the problem or problems and to apply the correct rule of law to the solution of the problem or problems.

The following rules apply to final examinations.

If a student, other than a senior, fails to take a final examination for any reason, he shall not be given a special (i.e., private) examination. In such case the student may, prior to the end of the following semester, petition the Committee on Admissions and Degrees for permission to take a deferred examination, i.e., take the next regular examination given in the course.

When a student fails to take a regular examination, a grade of Incomplete for the course is entered on the student's record. In the event the student does not petition the Committee on Admissions and Degrees within the allotted time, or does not receive Committee permission to take a deferred examination or fails to take the examination as permitted by the Committee, the grade of incomplete is automatically reduced to a grade of F.

The writing of a special examination is optional with the professor when a student has two examinations on the same day, unless the same professor teaches the same course in another section.

A senior who cannot take the next regular examination before graduation may be given a special examination if his failure to appear at the regular examination is excused by the Committee on Admissions and Degrees.
GRADES

The system of grading is numerical: 93-100 equals A; 84-92, B; 75-83, C; 70-74, D; below 70, F. No make-up examination is given to a student receiving a mark below 70 in any subject. Anonymous Grading is in effect in all but Seminar-type courses: Students are assigned numbers prior to each examination period, and they must sign their examinations only with their respective numbers.

DISMISSAL

A student will be dismissed if he fails in two or more courses in one semester, or if he does not attain an average of 77 for each of his scholastic years.

READMISSION AFTER DISMISSAL

A student may, if he is dismissed for poor scholarship, file a written petition for readmission with the Chairman of the Committee on Admissions and Degrees. The petition should set forth evidence of ability to complete his courses successfully if readmitted, reasons for previous failure to meet the academic requirements, and elimination of the reasons. The Committee will review the student's entire file including his petition, his initial application to law school, and his undergraduate and law school records. If the Committee concludes that the circumstances for the petitioner's failure were beyond his control and no longer exist and that he has the potential for successful completion of his law school studies, his application for readmission will be granted. A student who has been readmitted must maintain an "80" average for each of his next two semesters unless it is his last semester in school, in which event, he may be graduated if during his last semester he has maintained a "77" average and otherwise met the academic requirements. If a student is dismissed because of his grades in his first year in the College of Law, the Committee may readmit him to start over as a new student.

CREDITS

In the College of Law credits are indicated in terms of semester hours. A semester hour of credit indicates the completion of work for one hour per week for a semester, which ranges from fifteen to eighteen weeks.

TRANSCRIPT OF CREDITS

Students wishing transcripts for any purpose should request them at least a week in advance of the time needed. Request for transcripts must be presented to the Registrar's Office in writing. Requests will not be taken over the phone. The Record's Office cannot guarantee to fulfill requests made during the registration period.

Transcripts of credits are sent directly to the institution designated by the student.

Official transcripts of credit earned at other institutions are a part of the student's permanent record at De Paul University and are not reissued or copied for distribution. If needed, they must be obtained directly from the institution in question.

Transcripts will be issued only after the student has fulfilled all his financial obligations to the University.

PLAN OF CONDUCTING COURSES

The College of Law has two divisions — Day and Evening. The complete curriculum is offered in each division, and in each division the books, methods of instruction, entrance and graduation requirements are the same.

The classes in the Day Division are conducted from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday to Friday, inclusive. In the Evening Division, all classes are held on four evenings — Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday — of each week from 6:00 to 8:10 p.m.

A Day Division student who is employed more than twenty hours per week will not be permitted to carry a full program, but instead will be required to carry a lighter load and to attend the Day Division for eight semesters.

A Day Division student will not be permitted to take courses in the Evening Division.

The curriculum of the College of Law is designed to prepare the student for admission to the Bar of any State.

Registration cannot be accepted from a student with an unpaid balance from a prior term. Registrations attempted under these circumstances will be cancelled.

a. The registration fee is not refundable and must be paid each semester by all students.

b. The following comprise a full time student: In the Day Division, one who is taking in a single semester a minimum of twelve hours of work; in the Evening Division, one who is taking in a single semester the minimum of ten hours of work.

c. Payment of Student Service Fee entitles student to university publications, educational and vocational counseling, and services of the Placement Bureau.

d. A fee of $15.00 is payable at the time of application for entrance to the College of Law. This fee is not refundable whether applicant is accepted or rejected; neither is the fee applicable toward tuition. The fee is charged only at the time of first entrance into the school.

e. Payable only by students who do not complete registration during officially designated registration dates.
DEFERRED PAYMENT PLAN

Normally, the University expects all tuition and fees to be paid either at registration, or at or before the end of the first week of school.

For students unable to meet this requirement, the University does offer, on payment of $3.00 Deferred Payment fee, the following plan (not applicable to Summer Sessions):

- Payment of $1/3 of tuition and fees at or before the end of the first week of school.
- Payment of $1/3 of tuition and fees at or before the end of the third week of school.
- Payment of the final $1/3 tuition and fees at or before the end of the sixth week of school.

Students failing to make payments on or before the scheduled date will be assessed an additional $1.00 for each and every delinquency.

WITHDRAWAL

A student wishing to withdraw from a class or classes must report to the academic office and fill out a withdrawal slip, stating the reasons which make withdrawal necessary. Failure to notify the academic office (within the current term) of such withdrawal, renders the student ineligible for refund. Upon approval of the withdrawal request by the Dean of the College of Law, charges will be adjusted in accordance with the following schedule (not applicable to Summer Sessions):

Students who withdraw from all courses in good standing may be readmitted subject to regulations in force when they re-enter.

A limited number of scholarships are available to students who can meet established criteria based on academic ability and financial need. All scholarship applications should be directed to the Chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the College of Law. Applications must be on file no later than March 15th prior to the academic year for which the scholarship is requested. Accompanying all applications should be explicit statements of need supported by current income tax returns of the applicant and his or her parents.
Students who have transferred to the College of Law after completing three years of undergraduate study without obtaining a Bachelor's degree and who have been the recipient of either an Illinois State Scholarship or Illinois State Grant may continue the use of their award during the first year of Law School providing they maintain eligibility in all other respects. Inquiry should be made of the Office of Financial Aids and Placement.

The following scholarships are available through the College of Law:

LOANS
National Defense Loan Program
This program is co-sponsored by the Federal Government and DePaul University. A Law School student may borrow up to $2500 each academic year to a total not exceeding $10,000 for both his undergraduate and graduate years. The exact amount depends on an evaluation of his financial need.

The repayment period (up to 10 years) and the interest (3%) do not begin until 9 months after the student is no longer enrolled at least half-time. If a borrower becomes a full-time teacher (or administrator) in an elementary or secondary school or an institution of higher education, a substantial part of the loan may be forgiven at the rate of 10 or 15 percent for each year of service, the higher rate being reserved for those who are located at schools in officially approved poverty areas.

Illinois State Guaranteed Loan Program
This is essentially a program for full-time students from middle and upper income families who wish to defray payment of college expenses over a period of time. They must be bonafide residents of Illinois.

Law School students may borrow a minimum of $300 to a maximum of $1500 each year depending on their college expenses. The rate of interest is 7% simple interest. However, the federal government will pay the interest while the student is in school provided the adjusted gross income of the family is less than $15,000 per year. Payments of $30.00 minimum begin 9 months after cessation of full-time study and the entire loan must be repaid within 6 years from this date.

Application Procedure for Loan Programs
Contact the University's Office of Financial Aids and Placement in Room 1730 at 25 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Illinois, 60604.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES
College Work Study Program
Full-time students who can demonstrate financial need may apply for part-time and/or summer employment under this program which is co-sponsored by the Federal Government and DePaul University. Students may work (mostly on campus) up to 15 hours weekly while attending classes and up to 40 hours weekly when no classes are scheduled. The student must remain... in good standing academically and his earnings cannot exceed his need. Application should be made to the University's Office of Financial Aids and Placement at 25 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Illinois, 60604.

Other Part-time Employment

Part-time and summer jobs both on and off campus are available for students. The location of the University in a metropolitan area contributes greatly to the number and variety of opportunities for employment. In addition, the University itself can offer positions to students. After students have registered for their classes, the Placement Office of the College of Law will assist them in finding jobs. No proof of need is necessary for this service.

PLACEMENT OFFICE OF THE COLLEGE OF LAW

The College of Law maintains a placement office staffed by a placement director. It is located on the 7th floor of Lewis Center.

Law school seniors seeking full-time employment to begin after graduation, law alumni desiring employment, and law students seeking part-time employment should communicate with this office.

HOUSING

The University operates student residences on its Lincoln Park Campus, where information on living accommodations may be obtained from the Director of Housing. A list of available off-campus apartments and rooms may also be examined in the office of the Director of Housing.
Student Activities

DEPAUL LAW REVIEW

Since its inception in 1950, the DePaul Law Review has become a law journal of national stature. The Law Review is published quarterly by the Board of Editors and its staff, all of whom are students from both the day and evening divisions. Each volume is approximately 250 pages and composed of lead articles by lawyers, professors and judges, student comments by more advanced law students, experienced staffers (in many cases, representing their first published legal work), reviews of recent publications by distinguished members of the legal profession and student book notes.

MEMBERSHIP

Students may gain admission to the Law Review by gaining a cumulative average of 84 or above at any time during their law school career. For those students who have not attained the requisite 84 average, the Board of Editors conducts an annual writing competition, which serves as an alternate means of gaining admission to the Law Review Staff. After one semester on the staff, those who have successfully completed their training period are eligible to enter case note competition. Staff members learn effective use of a law library and proper legal citation form. Of the case notes produced, the best are selected for publication in future editions of the Law Review. After a student has submitted one publishable work, he is admitted to the Writing Staff where his duties are composed of galley reading and editing, assisting the Board of Editors and preparing a legal comment. From the Writing Staff, each graduating Board of Editors selects its successors. Election to the Board of Editors represents the highest in academic distinction and responsibility. A full tuition grant is given to each of the Board members, who will spend approximately 25 hours per week soliciting and editing articles and book reviews, supervising and training the staff and assisting those who are preparing notes and comments.

BENEFITS OF LAW REVIEW

The importance of participation in Law Review work cannot be over-emphasized. Not only is the student given the opportunity to perfect his research and writing skills, which are the very things that all lawyers must do well, regardless of their area of concentration, but those who demonstrate excellence are given valuable leadership experience as a member of the Board of Editors. These practical benefits are, of course, in addition to the obvious later advantages in employment, which exist due to the high level of esteem in which Law Review work is generally held by the better law firms. Law Review is also indispensable to the student who wishes to continue his education in a graduate program in law. Those who participate invariably claim that the time spent on Law Review was the best spent of all their law school hours.

Dean's Advisory Committee (D.A.C.). This is a combined student-faculty advisory committee designed to assist in the administrative functions of the Dean. The D.A.C. serves as the court of primary jurisdiction in all areas relating to students in the College of Law. D.A.C. is structured as a place for students to present grievances, administrative policy questions, and ideas for innovations within the College. The D.A.C. meets bi-weekly in open forum and student participation in decision-making processes is welcomed.

DePaul Student Bar Association (S.B.A.). The De Paul Student Bar Association is an organization open to all law students. The association is affiliated with the American Law Students Association, which in turn is a branch of the American Bar Association. It is composed of all law schools in the United States having Student Bar Associations — over 80 schools at present.

Some of the activities of the S.B.A. are the conduct of social functions; assignment of outstanding speakers for meetings of the association; conduct of orientation exercises for freshmen law students; and taking part in legal aid work.

The SBA Law Clerk Manual. The manual is published as a guide for students and young lawyers and deals exclusively with the practical aspects of a law practice. It tells how and where to file motions, petitions and other documents, how much to pay court clerks, and generally how to conduct a law practice. The manual attempts to assist the neophyte clerk or lawyer by providing questions not usually encountered in the academic environment of a school.

Moot Court Competition. Appellate Moot Court is included in the curriculum as part of the Trial Technique II course. The Moot Court program is designed to give students actual experience in legal research, in the preparation of briefs and in oral argument. The College of Law also participates in the National Inter-Law School Moot Court competition sponsored each year by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and in the International Moot Court competition sponsored by the American Society of International Law.

The Summons. Published seven times a year, The Summons is a newspaper written and edited by students. It is distributed to the law alumni as well as to the student body. The paper reports and editorializes on people and events within the law school community. In addition to student news, The Summons prints features, student polls, letters to the editor, guest articles and occasional committee reports. Participation is open to all students.

Honor Societies. The following national honor societies have established chapters at De Paul: Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, to which a limited number of students of high scholastic standing are elected annually; Blue Key Honor Society, national honor society, to which students are elected annually on the basis of good scholarship and leadership in University activities. Students in the College of Law are eligible to become members of these honor societies.

Law Fraternities and Sororities. The following law fraternities now have active chapters at De Paul University College of Law: Delta Theta Phi, Nu
Beta Epsilon, and Phi Alpha Delta. Chapters of the following law fraternities are not at present active: Gamma Eta Gamma and Sigma Delta Kappa. One law sorority, Kappa Beta Pi, is active and one is inactive, Delta Omicron Delta.

Black Law Students Organization. Composed of all black students in the College of Law, this group attempts to relate to the problems facing minority student's in today's legal profession. It sponsors seminars, guest speakers and social activities. It co-operates with similar groups in other Chicago law schools to maintain a spirit of unity among Chicago's future black lawyers. The group is also affiliated with the National Black American Law Students Association.

National Lawyers Guild. DePaul's Guild chapter is concerned with reform throughout the legal profession in terms of a departure from elitism and a stride toward a greater regard for common human values and professional ethics. The chapter has been active in sponsoring workshops, handling political and military cases, and providing a training ground for future lawyers.

Law Wives Club. The College of Law endorses membership in the Law Wives Club. All spouses of law students are eligible for membership. The club sponsors and supports many of the law school's activities.
