THE COLLEGE OF LAW
Law for a Changing Era

Graduates of law schools today will be practicing in the 21st century. Then, as now, the law will play a part in every area of human enterprise. As scientists chart the vastness of space and explore the origins of life itself, the law will develop to keep pace with the social implications of new knowledge. The one prediction we can make about the future of the nation's legal system is that it will become more complex and make more demands on its practitioners for abilities in areas which are open only to speculation today.

The College of Law at DePaul University has created a program sensitive to the needs of a changing society. DePaul prepares students for a broad range of legal careers and at the same time lays the intellectual foundations for dealing with future changes.

The College of Law is responsive to new social needs and to the insights offered by other disciplines to contemporary social problems and newly felt needs of individuals. Throughout their legal studies, students are exposed to all perspectives which will help clarify the law or indicate desired directions of legal reform. As importantly, the College of Law is a professional school which has the objective of providing students with the tools needed to cope with legal problems whether they be in the corporate, criminal, private or public practice of law.

An Urban Law School

Located in the heart of Chicago's Loop, DePaul particularly aims to prepare the lawyer who will be working in the urban setting. Moreover, there is a special concern with the legal needs of those who live and work in urban society. The Vincentian Fathers founded DePaul in 1898 in the belief that their service to the city included educating lawyers to help citizens and enabling those citizens desiring legal training to obtain it.

DePaul's curriculum reflects the school's commitment to the city. One program which involves students directly in urban legal problems is the Legal Clinic course sequence. Another program which exposes students to city, state, and federal problems is the Extern Program. More information about both of these programs is included in the following pages.

A Diverse Curriculum

In view of the broadening areas of life subject to legal control and the wide variety of career objectives of students, DePaul has endeavored to provide a diverse and innovative curriculum. After an initial grounding in common law and statutory analysis, students are offered an elective curriculum. A basic core of subjects prepares the student for traditional law practice while advanced courses provide opportunities for highly specialized work in corporate, criminal, labor and other areas of legal practice. Other elective courses offer a broadening of perspective and an opportunity to explore developing areas of law such as control of technology and political activity. The curriculum undergoes constant re-examination to meet both the needs and interests of students.

Additionally, a summer session is conducted each year for students who have completed two or more semesters towards their degree. Classes are scheduled during the day and evening to permit students greater flexibility of choice.
Legal Writing Program

Legal Writing and Research, a two-semester required course, is an integral part of the first-year curriculum.

Legal Writing and Research develops the skills in objective reasoning and precise communication that are essential in the practice of law. Writing assignments cultivate the first-year student's ability to critically analyze facts, to identify and formulate legal questions and to resolve those questions through the application of relevant law. The independent research required in later assignments utilizes these reasoning skills and introduces the student to research tools used in the legal profession. The analytical, writing and research skills mastered in Legal Writing and Research complement student performance in first-year substantive courses.

Students meet weekly in small "workshop" classes, where they are introduced to the principles and methods of legal analysis, writing and research and to the rudiments of oral advocacy. Students also meet weekly with an upperclass student-tutor. Tutorial sessions supplement the Legal Writing and Research classes, offering each student an opportunity to discuss and put into practice concepts presented by their instructor. The content and structure of the Legal Writing and Research program facilitate student growth through individual guidance and attention.

Lawyering Skills Program

DePaul believes strongly that law students should be trained in practical lawyering skills as part of their legal education. The DePaul curriculum presently offers six courses as part of its skills program. Beginning in the second year, students may take one or more of these elective courses. Each course focuses on a set of lawyering competencies which the student then develops through a series of simulated courtroom or law office exercises.

The courses in Trial Advocacy and Advanced Trial Advocacy are designed to teach the skills necessary to conduct witness examinations, make opening and closing statements, and choose a jury. The courses in Litigation Strategy: Pre-Trial Civil and Litigation Strategy: Pre-Trial Criminal highlight the skills necessary to make pre-trial arguments and manage litigation, as well as emphasizing the importance of dispute resolution without trial. The course in Interviewing, Counseling and Negotiating teaches students how to conduct client interviews, settlement conferences, and counseling sessions. The course in Appellate Technique develops the student's ability to structure and organize legal arguments and to present them in simulated appellate advocacy sessions.

In each of the courses, the student is required to perform the various lawyer roles through simulation, often followed by videotape replays and in-class or individual critiques by the instructor.

DePaul Legal Clinic

The DePaul Legal Clinic operates as a general civil practice law office, providing legal services to the lower middle income community. Senior law students, who are eligible for a license under Supreme Court Rule 711, participate in the legal clinic. The students interview clients, draft pleadings and discovery, negotiate settlements and try cases in the state courts and the various federal administrative bodies.

All clinical activities are subject to the final review and supervision of the three clinical professors. Guidance is also provided by the Honorable Norman Eliger, a judge in the Circuit Court of Cook County, who maintains part-time consultation office hours. Additionally, students attend weekly lectures given by practicing attorneys, who are experts in their field.

Participation in the legal clinic exposes students to the organization and procedures of a law office and prepares them for the day to day pressures of the legal profession. By directly representing clients, students better understand the ethical responsibilities of the attorney-client relationship. The clinic provides necessary legal services to the community, while furnishing students with firsthand experience in the practice of law.
Extern Program

In the College of Law Extern Program, advanced law students enjoy a wide variety of externship options. The Program allows students to accumulate academic credit towards their law degrees while involving them in supervised field work in one of the large number of participating government offices. Specifically, College of Law student-externs have obtained externships with various members of the federal judiciary, including judges of the United States Court of Appeals, District Court, Bankruptcy Court and Magistrate’s Court, as well as with members of the state judiciary.

Externships are also available with many of the numerous federal, state, county and municipal agencies in the Chicago area. Students have gained externship experience with offices and agencies such as the United States Attorney, the National Labor Relations Board, the internal Revenue Service, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Illinois Attorney General, the State’s Attorney for Cook County, the Public Defender for Cook County, the Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago and the Legal Assistance Foundation of Chicago.

While the participating government attorneys and members of the judiciary involve student-externs in meaningful legal responsibilities, the students gain valuable practical legal skills and knowledge while working in the legal community. Under Illinois Supreme Court Rule 711, students may handle various types of actual litigation responsibilities in state court under the direction of a supervising attorney. Also, many College of Law students have found their extern positions to be beneficial in gaining a permanent job placement.

Origin

DePaul University was established in 1868. In 1912, the Illinois College of Law became affiliated with DePaul and Howard N. Ogden, founder and president of the Illinois College of Law, was awarded the first honorary degree (LL.B.) ever conferred by DePaul. In 1915, upon the death of Mr. Ogden, the Illinois College of Law was absorbed into DePaul University.

Faculty and Students

The faculty keeps pace with the growing curriculum. There are 41 full-time and 32 part-time faculty members. Every field of interest is represented; the faculty is diverse in age, outlook and background. Their educational backgrounds reflect attendance at a broad range of law schools. The faculty is actively involved in scholarly research and writing; they serve on various law and governmental committees and advisory groups.

Approximately 1,130 students are enrolled this year. Although a significant number of DePaul’s students come from the surrounding metropolitan area, many attended undergraduate institutions out of state. Students come to DePaul from virtually every state and several foreign countries and, after graduation, practice in cities across the country.

Special Programs

The College of Law has established joint programs with other graduate divisions. In cooperation with the College of Commerce, the law school offers programs leading to Juris Doctor and Master of Business Administration or Master of Science in Accounting degrees.

The College of Law itself provides a program of graduate law study leading to the Master of Laws in Taxation (LL.M.) degree. The LL.M. program is intended to furnish the practicing lawyer with intensive instruction in the substantive and procedural aspects of tax law with special emphasis on federal taxation. The course work in the program ranges from a review of basic aspects of income tax and gift and estate tax to advanced problems in income taxation of trusts, corporate reorganization and foreign business taxation and state and local taxation. The program exposes the student to both academic and practicing members of the bar who specialize in specific areas of tax law.
Physical Facilities

DePaul University maintains two separate campuses. Administrative offices and the Colleges of Law and Commerce occupy three buildings in the Loop campus in Chicago's central business district. The Lincoln Park campus is located four miles north, in a residential area. It encompasses 20 principal buildings on 25 acres. A variety of athletic facilities on the Lincoln Park campus are available for use by law students.

Law classes are held at the Loop campus. The College of Law occupies five floors of the 17-story Lewis Center and the adjoining O'Malley Place. Presently, there are five large classrooms, a moot court room and a number of seminar and meeting rooms plus lounge areas. In addition, there are spacious accommodations for offices, the Legal Clinic, the DePaul Law Review and student activities. The Law Library provides a superb unit for study and research. The College of Law facilities were renovated in 1976 and expanded in 1984.
Law Library

The library of the College of Law has over 200,000 volumes of Anglo-American legal materials with an annual acquisition rate of nearly 8,000 volumes. Its open stack arrangement provides both basic and advanced resources needed for study and research in subject areas included in the law school curriculum. Duplicate materials allow access to heavily used resources and also permit overnight circulation of many items. Designated an official depository for government publications, the law library provides an excellent collection of federal documents. In addition, its collections of tax law, legal periodicals, and microforms are outstanding.

New physical facilities for the law library were completed in 1976 and expanded by 50% in 1984. Seating is available for approximately 600 students. A computer room, a typing room, and comfortable lounge areas are included. In 1978, LEXIS, an automated legal research system, was added to the library's facilities and in 1983 WESTLAW was added. Both are available to all law students. First-year law students are trained on LEXIS and WESTLAW as part of the Legal Writing and Research Program. In 1980, Library Computer System (LCS) became operational in the law library. LCS is an on-line system for identifying and borrowing materials from many academic libraries in Illinois.

The law library staff consists of eighteen full-time employees, seven of whom are professional librarians. For the convenience of students, faculty and alumni, the professional staff is available seven days a week, and evening reference service is provided. The librarians prepare materials on legal research for first-year law students as part of the Legal Writing and Research Program, and they offer a variety of specialized lectures and tours upon request.

Center for Church-State Studies

The center was established in the spring of 1982 to foster scholarly analysis of issues involving the interrelationship between religion and government. Its Executive Board is composed of nationally prominent law professors and practicing attorneys. The center commissions works by various experts, sponsors conferences and holds an annual lecture series.

Recently, the Center announced its first comprehensive research program for the next five years. It will involve a thorough study of the legal structures within which religious institutions conduct their activities.

Visiting Committee

In the summer of 1982, in an effort to nurture corporate and legal contacts and maintain and advance the reputation of the law school, the Visiting Committee of the College of Law was formed. This committee of approximately 25 alumni and friends of the University assists the Dean in promoting the long-range objectives of the College of Law and influences the decision making process of the administration of the University. The group is composed of jurists, practicing attorneys and business leaders who have been invited by the Dean to participate for a two year renewable term. The areas of concern of this advisory group include law admissions, alumni relations, curriculum, development, faculty, placement and financial aid.

Tuition Payment Plan

All tuition and fees are due at time of registration, but no later than the end of the first full week of classes. The University does not accept responsibility for delays by the U.S. Postal Service. Payment must be received in the Cashier's Office or one of its depositories by the due date. For students who are unable to meet this requirement, a $50.00 delinquency fee will be charged.

DePaul University through the EFI-Fund Management Program offers the alternative of paying educational expenses on a convenient monthly basis rather than in lump sums. With some exceptions, qualified applicants are able to insure their educational plans for up to four years. Since this is not a loan program, but a prepaid budget plan, there is no interest charged. Except for the monthly insurance premiums on insured plans, the only charge for the service is a non-refundable annual participation fee of $30.00. Multiple year EFI-FM programs are also available.

The annual EFI-FM program for the 1984-85 academic year calls for eight monthly payments beginning July 15, 1984. Multiple year plans call for eight payments the first year, then twelve payments each year thereafter. While early application is recommended, you may enroll in the plan until October 15, 1984 by sending previously due payments with the application and the $30.00 fee. Additional information and application forms can be obtained by calling the EFI-Fund Management Corporation: (312) 564-4242 for Illinois residents or 1-(800)-333-7399 toll free outside Illinois.

Students whose accounts show a balance due at the end of the fourth week of the term:

- Will not receive transcripts,
- Will be prohibited from future registration.

Refunds/Withdrawal

Charges for courses are based on the period of a student’s enrollment beginning with the opening day of the semester until the student initiates an enrollment change to withdraw. Withdrawals must be processed in the College of Law Office either in person or by mail and will be dated as of the end of the week in which the student signs the form or the letter is postmarked. Simply ceasing to attend or notifying the faculty does not constitute a withdrawal of record.

Upon processing the enrollment change during the Fall and Spring semesters, the tuition charge will be reduced according to the following schedule, where the Effective Date is:

Prior to the end of the first week of the term .......................... 100%
At the end of the second week of classes ............................... 75%
At the end of the third week of classes ................................. 50%
At the end of the fourth week of classes ............................... 25%
After the fourth week of classes ................................. 0%

All evening students who withdraw from courses and those day students whose withdrawals reduce their enrollment to less than 12 semester hours will be charged according to the preceding schedule. Fees are not refundable. All refunds are initiated by the Cashier's Office only upon receipt of an approved enrollment change and a specific request by the student within one calendar year of the opening of the semester in which the credit accrued.

Students receiving financial aid are advised to contact a Financial Aid Counselor to discuss the consequences of a withdrawal which may affect academic progress and eligibility for aid at DePaul University or at any other school to which they may transfer.
Notes on Tuition and Fees

- A registration will be accepted conditionally from a student with an unpaid balance due from a prior term. The conditional status will be removed upon compliance with instructions noted on the student's confirmation for the new term. Non-compliance will result in the cancellation of the new registration.

- Tuition and fees for courses audited are charged at the regular tuition rates, must be paid at the time of registration, and are not refundable.

- Students receiving financial aid in the form of scholarships, tuition grants, or loans—federal programs, state governments, or DePaul University—must determine whether the amount of aid received at least equals total tuition and fees each term. In the event a balance due remains, this balance must be paid not later than the end of the first week of the term in order to avoid the Delinquency Fee.

- All charges must be paid in full before students are graduated or certified for the bar exam.

- Courses are subject to cancellation due to insufficient enrollment.

- If a student gives the University a check that is returned by the bank upon which it is drawn, marked "Not Sufficient Funds," "Payment Stopped," or "Account Closed," a charge will be assessed for each such occurrence.

- Any foreign check must be made payable in United States dollars or will not be accepted by the University.
FINANCIAL AID
APPLICATION AND PACKAGING OF AWARDS

In a world of ever increasing costs, it is more important than ever to apply for financial assistance. The cost of living and school related expenses are often greater than expected. We strongly recommend that all students take the time to complete the requisite financial aid forms.

The University attempts to meet a student’s calculated need as determined by the Office of Financial Aid from the data which the student provides. Rising tuition costs and increasing numbers of students applying for financial aid, coupled with changing availability of funds in specific programs have caused the College of Law and the University as a whole to re-examine the way in which financial aid is distributed. Our study of the needs of our students and the available financial aid resources has led to the development and institution of a new financial aid packaging philosophy.

Rolling Policy

The University and the College of Law make available financial aid in the form of loans, work-study, tuition grants, and scholarships. Requirements and application periods vary from program to program. Students should apply for financial assistance for the upcoming academic year as soon as possible, even if they have not yet received notice of acceptance, as aid is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. If an in-coming student does not apply for financial aid until notification of acceptance is received, some financial aid resources may no longer be available.

Packaging of Awards

Under our financial aid philosophy, all students applying for financial aid are required to participate, if eligible, in the Guaranteed Student Loan program in order to meet the first $5,000 of their need. Students with complete financial aid files and need in excess of $5,000 are automatically considered for tuition grants, scholarships and National Direct Student Loans. If interest is expressed in work opportunities, upperclass and first-year evening students are considered for College Work-Study awards. First-year day students are not allowed to work and are, thus, ineligible for College Work-Study awards.

Students who still have unmet need after participating in any or all of the abovementioned programs have the option of applying to the DePaul Parent/Student Loan Program.

Application

In order to be considered for all forms of financial aid, except the Guaranteed Student Loan program and the Auxiliary Loans to Assist Students, a student must have a complete financial aid file. All financial aid forms for the upcoming academic year are available after January 1. As financial aid is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis, all forms should be requested and completed as soon after January 1 as possible. Direct requests for forms or assistance in completing the forms and questions concerning evaluation of need, packaging and payment should be addressed to:

DePaul University
Office of Financial Aid, Room 1730
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604
Telephone: (312) 341-8526

Questions about the financial aid philosophy, or scholarships should be directed to the College of Law. Please telephone (312) 341-8311 and ask to speak with the Assistant to the Dean (Financial Aid, Publications).
Complete File

The most important data required for a complete file are:

• Financial Aid Form (FAF)
The FAF, along with the appropriate processing fee, should be filed with the College Scholarship Service (CSS) as soon after January 1 as possible so that the results are processed and forwarded to DePaul University in a timely fashion.
Processing may take six to eight weeks. Inquiries about the status of the processing of the FAF should be directed to:

College Scholarship Service
Box 380
Berkeley, California 94701
Toll-Free Telephone: (800) 772-3537

• DePaul University Application for Financial Aid
Complete this form and return it to:

DePaul University
Office of Financial Aid, Room 1730
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604
Telephone: (312) 341-8526

• Previous Year Income Tax Returns
  –Student’s copy (spouse’s copy, if applicable) for all applicants
  AND
  –Parents’ copy for dependent students, if applicable

• Financial Aid Transcripts
These are required of transfer and first-time applicants for financial aid who have attended a U.S. college or university other than DePaul, regardless of whether or not aid was received.

You may be asked to provide further documentation.
TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID

Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL)
Students may obtain applications from and apply directly to a bank or other private lending institution that participates in a state-sponsored GSL program. To borrow through the program, a student need not have a complete financial aid file at DePaul University.

Eligible students may borrow up to a maximum of $5,000 each year from the Illinois Guaranteed Student Loan Program (IGLP). The loans are provided by participating banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions. The current interest rate is eight percent per year. Repayment begins six months after the student last attended on at least a half-time basis, and the federal government subsidizes the interest until the borrower begins repayment. A five percent processing fee is charged to the borrower at the time of disbursement resulting in an amount received which is less than the total award. Students are notified of the loan disbursement as soon as the loan check is received by the Office of Financial Aid and they are instructed to claim their loan checks through the Cashier’s Office.

For a list of participating banks, write or telephone the Office of Financial Aid.

Auxiliary Loans to Assist Students (ALAS)
This loan program is available to independent and dependent professional students. A student may borrow up to $3,000 per year in addition to any funds borrowed under the Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL) program. The maximum amount of the loan varies by dependency status and receipt of other financial assistance. The interest rate is 12 percent and repayment begins 60 days after disbursement of the loan. Further information is available from your lending institution or the Office of Financial Aid.

National Direct Student Loan (NDSL)
DePaul University participates in the federally sponsored NDSL program. Money received from collections on previous loans and from the federal government is used for these low-interest loans. The amount a student may borrow is based upon evaluated need as determined by the Office of Financial Aid. A maximum program total of $12,000 can be borrowed for undergraduate and graduate studies.

Repayment does not begin until six months after the last date of attendance on at least a half-time basis and the current interest charge is five percent. Once awarded, the loan is disbursed by check through the Cashier’s Office, one half of the loan each semester. A complete financial aid file is required.

College Work-Study Program
The federal government has established a fund for participating universities to use as salaries for students in selected jobs. As with loans and scholarships, students apply to the Office of Financial Aid for College Work-Study allocations. However, the Office of Career Planning and Placement assists students in locating employment opportunities.

College of Law students may not work in excess of 20 hours per week on College Work-Study jobs while attending school on a full-time basis. This restriction also applies during the summer if the student is enrolled for summer session. A day student may work up to 40 hours per week while not enrolled in classes, provided that earnings do not exceed the College Work-Study allocation awarded. Day students, however, are not permitted to work during the first year of law school. It is necessary to have a complete financial aid file in order to participate in this program.
DePaul Parent/Student Loan Program

Through this program, the University makes loans available to students and their parents/guardians. These are credit-based loans that will carry a 7.25% interest rate. The current rate is 7.25% and the maximum amount a student can borrow is equal to tuition charges. Repayment will begin 30 days after the loan is issued and the borrower has up to 10 years to repay the loan. A processing fee is required to apply for the loan. To be eligible, a student must have applied for all other sources of aid. Contact the Office of Financial Aid for more information.

Veterans' Benefits

Students should check with the Office of the Registrar regarding requirements of veterans' benefit programs.
Scholarships

Grants and scholarships are available to students who demonstrate high financial need and/or exceptional academic ability. Awards are made by the College of Law based on information supplied by the Office of Financial Aid. Most scholarships are distributed on the basis of need and the other criteria noted below.

A limited number of scholarships are awarded to entering first-year students based upon academic promise. Upperclass students with high grade point averages are also considered for academic scholarships. A complete financial aid file is required but no separate application is necessary in order to be considered for the following scholarships:

Arthur Andersen & Co. Scholarship. The accounting firm of Arthur Andersen & Co. makes a scholarship available annually to a student whose undergraduate record indicates a strong interest in accounting and taxation.

GPOP Fellowships

The Graduate and Professional Opportunities Program (GPOP) DePaul University College of Law participates in this federal fellowship program which provides for a stipend in addition to full payment of tuition and fees. The program is applicable to highly qualified first year day students who demonstrate financial need and who are from groups which are under represented in the legal profession. The program provides for renewal of a student’s fellowship for each year of full time study. The number of fellowships in a given year is determined by the appropriation made by the Federal Government.

Emergency Loan Funds

These funds are made available each year through the generous contributions of alumni and friends.

The Warren J. Hickey Emergency Loan Fund was established by friends and associates of Warren J. Hickey, a noted member of the Trial Bar of Chicago, and provides small, short-term loans to upperclass students who are in need of emergency funds.

The Jameson Emergency Loan Fund was made possible through the generosity of the Jameson Foundation and provides small, short-term loans to first-year students who are in need of emergency assistance.

The combined collection consists of over 450,000 volumes, 3,500 periodical titles as well as media such as filmstrips, cassettes, films, microforms, videotapes, and a music record library. Library handbooks that describe various services and the physical arrangement of the libraries and explain library rules and regulations are available throughout the library system.

The libraries of DePaul University have their circulation records in computerized form and have 33 terminals in operation for an on-line circulation system. The Library Computer System (LCS) allows DePaul's libraries at Lewis Center, Lincoln Park and the Law Library to have online access to each other's collections. A daily shuttle between campuses allows students to request a book or other material from the other DePaul campus library and receive it within 24 hours. In addition, DePaul's students now have computer access to the library collections of eighteen other Illinois colleges and universities including the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana and at Chicago Circle.

The Lewis Center Library collection contains over 110,000 volumes and 950 periodical subscriptions. It supports many of the undergraduate and graduate programs of the university with special strength in Commerce.

The Lincoln Park Library serves students in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the School of Education, the School of Music and the DePaul/Goodman School of Drama. There are over 150,000 volumes presently in the collection. The periodical collection includes over 1,500 current subscriptions.

A schedule of available hours can be obtained from Alumni Hall and the Hayes-Healy Center. For more information, telephone the Athletic Department at (312) 341-8412.
STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Students are encouraged to participate in student organizations and activities which will allow them to form associations that will enrich their professional experience.

Publications

The DePaul Law Review is published quarterly under the direction of a student board of editors. Issues contain articles by practicing attorneys, judges and law professors. Student members of the Law Review contribute articles discussing recent cases and developments in the law.

Participation in the Law Review is open to all qualified students after their first semester. Eligibility is determined on the basis of scholastic achievement and a writing competition. Election to the Editorial Board of the Law Review is a high honor; members are considered to be among the outstanding students in their class. In addition, board members receive tuition assistance and academic credit.

The Cause of Action is the law student newspaper. Articles pertaining to upcoming law events and student activities, law placement, faculty and administrative personnel, and scholarships are printed three times each semester or six times per year. Scholarly articles and editorials by faculty members and students are also included.

Student contributions to the College of Law Newsletter are encouraged. The Newsletter is printed twice a year in order to keep alumni informed of College of Law activities and events.

Organizations

All law students are members of the DePaul Student Bar Association (SBA). The Association is affiliated with the American Law Students Association and the student division of the American Bar Association. SBA conducts social functions, invites outstanding speakers to the law school, and helps organize orientation exercises for first-year law students.

The DePaul Moot Court Society is composed of students interested in developing their legal research, brief writing and oral advocacy skills by participating in the Intramural Moot Court Competition. Each student fully analyzes and briefs a hypothetical problem, then argues the case under the scrutiny of practicing attorneys and judges. Successful completion of the Intramural Competition qualifies Society members for positions on National Moot Court Teams as well as on the Executive Board. The Executive Board provides responsible students a role in the administration of all aspects of the DePaul Moot Court Program, from the first year exercise to the National Teams. DePaul’s National Teams participate in a number of National Moot Court Competitions, including meets sponsored by the Bar of the City of New York, the American Bar Association, the American Society of International Law, and Universities across the country.

Two law fraternities, Phi Alpha Delta and Delta Theta Phi, have chapters at DePaul. These organizations bring students together for study, professional meetings, and social functions.

The Black American Law Students Association (BALS) seeks to articulate and promote the needs and goals of black law students within the University.

The Decalogue Society of Lawyers, the professional bar association for Jewish lawyers, has a student chapter on campus.

The Latino Law Student Association (LLSA) was formed in 1973 to provide guidance to entering Latino students and to promote full participation of Latino students in the law school community. Open to all students, LLSA awards an annual scholarship to a first-year student and honors a practicing attorney who is active in Hispanic community matters.
The Women's Law Caucus provides a forum for discussing and analyzing the role of women in the legal profession, and the impact of law on women's rights. The Caucus helped develop and structure a course on sex-based discrimination and has sponsored various conferences on such topics as Women and the Law, Women in Sports, and Legal issues of Women’s Health.

In 1980, the Comparative Law Society and the DePaul Society of International Law merged to form the International Comparative Law Society. This group attempts to increase interest in and understanding of comparative and international law through a program of speakers and panel discussions.

The DePaul Business Law Society was founded in 1982. In the near future, this organization hopes to publish a journal containing articles of interest to small businesses.

The newest student organization is the DePaul University College of Law Chapter of the Federalist Society. This society sponsors a number of speakers throughout the academic year.

Other Activities

The College of Law invites student participation in the law school decision making process. Through a Dean’s Advisory Committee comprised of both student and faculty members, students have an opportunity to voice opinions on policy questions, grievances and student discipline. In addition, elected student representatives are members of many faculty committees.

Early in the Spring semester, the annual intramural Client Counseling Competition is held. Teams of two students each compete in the interviewing and counseling of a “client.” The participants are given a very brief description of a problem that the “client” will be coming in to discuss with them. The objective is to establish a professional rapport with the “client,” in order to elicit the information necessary to give the “client” the best advice.

Each team’s performance is judged by a panel of two lawyers and a psychiatrist, psychologist or social worker. The winning team represents the College of Law in the Regional Client Counseling Competition, the winner of which represents the region in the national competition. These competitions are sponsored by the American Bar Association.

The intramural Client Counseling Competition is open to all students. It provides an opportunity for the participants to experience a client interview and benefit from a constructive critique of their performance by the judges.

A board of student volunteers organizes the Competition and arranges for the judges. The Client Counseling Competition Board members, although not eligible to participate in the competition, benefit from the experience of organizing the event and from the contacts they make with the lawyers who act as judges.

Scholastic Honors and Prizes

American Jurisprudence Prizes, established by The Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Company and the Bancroft Whitney Company, joint publishers of American Jurisprudence, consist of separately bound subjects from this encyclopedia of law and are awarded to students in all years based on attaining the highest grade in specified courses.

Order of Barristers is a national honorary organization whose purpose is the encouragement of oral advocacy and brief-writing skills. Each year outstanding students are nominated for membership in recognition of their advocacy skills.

The United States Law Week Award is given to the graduating law student who, in the judgment of the faculty committee, has made the most satisfactory scholastic progress in the final year of law school. The award consists of a year's complimentary subscription to Law Week, a weekly review of important court decisions, federal agency rulings and Supreme Court opinions.
Placement

The Office of Career Planning and Placement of the College of Law makes job listings available and provides career counseling to assist students and alumni in acquiring temporary and full-time legal employment. The DePaul Placement Handbook is printed annually and describes the resources, procedures and programs of the office. A reference library is maintained in the Office of Career Planning and Placement to provide students with job search information such as firm resumes, annual reports, directories and articles of current trends in the legal field. During the academic year the office sponsors seminars to familiarize students with different areas of the law. Programs are also conducted to aid students in resume writing techniques and interviewing skills. In the fall, the On-Campus Interviewing Program is conducted to allow employers the opportunity to interview upperclass students for summer associate and permanent full-time associate positions. In the spring, the informal On-Campus Interviewing Program comprised primarily of small and medium sized law firms, companies, and government agencies is sponsored.

Student Employment

On-Campus

Limited on-campus jobs are available to upperclass law students. Second and third-year students can apply for openings as research assistants for any of the full-time faculty members or deans. Or, for a five or six week period in the spring of each year, upperclass students may apply to assist first-year students in learning to use the LEXIS and WESTLAW equipment in the Law Library. Students also are encouraged to make use of the University's general Office of Career Planning and Placement if they are interested in non-legal positions.

Alumni Activities

Two major law alumni functions are held annually. Each fall all DePaul law graduates are invited to attend the annual law alumni dinner. This event is usually held on a Friday evening at one of the major downtown hotels. Class reunions are held prior to this evening of dinner and dancing. The second annual alumni event is the Law Review Board winter reception for all past Law Review Board members.

Law Alumni are entitled to numerous benefits as graduates of DePaul University. One benefit which may be of particular interest to Law Alumni is the availability of the DePaul University College of Law library and its extensive research collection. Alumni must display their alumni card to use the facilities. Further alumni benefits information and alumni cards may be obtained by contacting:

DePaul University
Office of Alumni Relations
243 South Wabash Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60604
Telephone: (312) 341-8584
Contents of these courses and all elective courses are included in the section on Course Descriptions. Note, however, that seminar courses vary from one semester to the next. Students, therefore, must check the registration materials each semester to determine whether or not a specific course meets the seminar requirement.

Registration

The College of Law registers first year Juris Doctor (J.D.) students by mail and upperclass students in person. Late registrants are charged an additional fee.

A student must receive permission from the Office of the Dean to take courses outside the College of Law.

Class Attendance

Regular and punctual class attendance is required. Irregular classroom attendance may result in an involuntary withdrawal. If a student is involuntarily withdrawn from a class, full tuition is due and the student will receive a grade of "F" in the course.

Credit

In the College of Law, official credit is awarded in semester hours. Courses normally carry one, two, or three semester hours of credit. A student usually will spend a minimum of one hour a week in class for each credit hour earned.

Evaluation

In seminars, clinical courses, guided research, and independent research, the course grade generally will be based on written work and class participation. In other courses, the grade will generally be based solely on the anonymously graded final examination. Instructors may modify these criteria and must provide the criteria for evaluation in writing to the Dean and to the students on or the first class meeting.

Grades

Grades used by the College of Law are:

Dismissal

Students will be dismissed for poor academic performance. Students must maintain at least a 2.0 cumulative grade point average overall and for each academic year. Once dismissed, the student may file a written petition for readmission with the Office of the Dean. Conditions for readmission are individually determined and specific criteria are set forth in the Official Student Handbook.
Pass/No Credit Policy

Certain J.D. law school courses may be taken on a Pass/No Credit basis. The credit earned in such a course is not calculated in the student's grade point average; however, the credit will appear in the earned hours section on the student's academic record. Should a student fail a course taken under this policy, an "F" will be entered on the student's academic record, but will not be calculated in the student's grade point average.
Transcripts

The Registrar of the University records all grades onto each student's transcript. Students wishing official copies of their transcripts should request them from the Registrar in writing at least a week before they are needed. The University will send transcripts directly to the institution designated by the student. Transcripts will not be issued to students whose accounts with the University are in arrears, and will not be issued during registration.

Official Student Handbook

The Official Student Handbook is an annual publication which completely describes the regulations of the College of Law. Students should obtain a copy of the Handbook upon entering the College of Law and are responsible for its contents.

Degree Requirements

To graduate, a student must:

- Complete 86 credit hours of work.
- Complete all first and second year required courses, one seminar course and must take and pass Legal Profession.
- Maintain a 2.0 grade point average overall and for each academic year. Each academic year begins with the summer session and ends with the spring semester.
- Earn six semesters residency credit in the day division or eight semesters residency credit in the evening division. Residency credit is more fully described in the Official Student Handbook.

Transfer students and DePaul students who are visiting other colleges must complete at least one year of law study at DePaul.

Degree With Honor

Upon recommendation of the Dean and faculty, the degree Jurs Doctor With Honor may be conferred upon those in each graduating class who rank in the top 10 percent of their respective class.
JURIS DOCTOR
The first degree in law offered by the College of Law is the Juris Doctor. The College of Law offers a full-time three-year day program and a four-year part-time evening program. By taking advantage of summer sessions, a student may accelerate graduation by one semester. When you enter the College of Law you are commencing professional study, and you will find it more rigorous than your pre-law work. If you are able to devote your full time to law study, you may enroll in the day division. If you are required to work during your first year, then you must enroll in the evening division.

Day Division

The College of Law day division program is designed exclusively for full-time students. Acceptance of a position in the day division represents a commitment to that concept. Any employment or other significant outside involvement is inconsistent with that commitment. No adjustments in schedule or in academic regulations are made to accommodate employment or other activities. First-year day division students are strictly prohibited from any outside employment and upperclass students, by American Bar Association regulations, may not work in excess of 20 hours per week while attending school on a full-time basis.

Evening Division

The evening division is designed for people seeking a law degree who must work full-time in order to fund their education. The courses offered in the evening division are identical to those offered during the day and are taught by primarily the same faculty. Students in the evening division take fewer courses each term than day division students. A student in the evening division typically undertakes 8 to 11 credit hours of work each term, compared to 12 to 16 hours in the day program.
APPLICATION AND ADMISSION

Who May Apply

Students who have received a bachelor's degree or who will have received such a degree prior to July of the year for which admission is sought are eligible to apply. In no event will anyone be permitted to matriculate to the College of Law who has not yet received a bachelor's degree. No specific field of major study or particular courses are prescribed. First-year students are admitted for classes beginning in fall only.

How to Apply

Application for admission to the J.D. program is made directly to the College of Law. The prospective student may obtain an application by writing:

DePaul University
College of Law
Director of Admissions
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604
(312) 341-6831

Selection for admission to the College of Law is based upon the total application rather than upon any one factor. Although objective points of departure are established by reference to the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) score and grade point average, indications that the candidate possesses intellectual depth, high ambition and diligence, energy, high ideals and qualities associated with future leadership are given weight. Economic, societal or educational obstacles which have been successfully overcome by an applicant have led to favorable consideration as have other kinds of outstanding achievement. Diversity of interest, background and experience among the members of each entering class is a continuing objective of the admission process. In addition, the applicant's prior relations with the DePaul University community and the applicant's potential for furthering DePaul's institutional goals are considered.

DePaul University has a non-discriminatory admissions policy: it does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age or handicap.

Early application is recommended. Students should have all application forms and supporting documents filed with the College of Law by April 15 of the year for which they are applying. A large number of applicants compete each year for a limited number of openings, and applications which are not completed by April 15 run the risk of not being reviewed until after the class is filled.
Law School Admission Test (LSAT)

Applicants must take the LSAT. The Educational Testing Service in Newtown, Pennsylvania, administers the test four times a year at several hundred locations.

In order to be considered for the fall semester, applicants should take the Law School Admissions Test no later than the previous December. Applicants may obtain an application and a bulletin of information by writing directly to:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>LSAT</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Educational Testing Service</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Box 2000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Newtown, Pennsylvania 18940</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The LSAT Bulletin lists the dates when applications must be filed, the specific days on which the test will be given, and the places where the test may be taken.

Applications for the test and the fee must be received in the office of the Educational Testing Service in Newtown, Pennsylvania, not later than three weeks prior to the date of the test.

No application will be processed unless accompanied by a Law School Application Matching Form which includes in the applicant's LSAT/LSDAS registration packet. Test scores are valid for four years.

Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS)

DePaul uses the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) to analyze transcripts. Applicants must send college transcripts directly to:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>LSDAS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Educational Testing Service</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Box 2000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Newtown, Pennsylvania 18940</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Applicants who have been admitted must send final course transcripts to DePaul as soon as they become available.

Letters of Recommendation

While not required, applicants are strongly encouraged to submit letters from persons familiar with the applicant's qualifications or employment performance. Academic letters of recommendation generally carry more weight than letters from employers and others not in a position to judge the applicant's academic abilities. Such letters should be submitted no later than two weeks after the application is received to ensure that they will be placed in the applicant's file prior to review.

Transfer Students

DePaul accepts a limited number of transfer students who have completed at least one full year of study at a law school approved by the American Bar Association and who have achieved an above average record of academic work at the previous law school. In general, transfer students must meet all the regular requirements for admission. Information including undergraduate transcripts, Law School Admission Test score, official transcript of the student's record at the law school previously attended, and a certificate of good standing must be sent directly to the College of Law. Transfer students are not required to register with LSDAS. A transfer applicant should submit a completed application no later than June 1 for the fall semester and December 1 for the spring semester.

Foreign Applicants

Applicants from foreign countries should present complete official transcripts with a translation of the credits granted by the foreign institution. In general, no advanced credit is granted for law work done outside the United States, but the Committee on Admissions reviews all foreign applications and may grant exceptions.
Veterans' Benefits

DePaul is an approved institution for veterans' training. Veterans seeking admission should write:

DePaul University
Veterans' Coordinator
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604

Deposit

Newly-admitted students are asked to make a non-refundable deposit of $100.00 upon acceptance. This deposit is applied to the first semester's tuition. A second deposit will be required at the time of registration.

Interviews

In view of the large number of applicants, personal interviews are not part of the admissions process at DePaul. However, applicants are invited to visit the College of Law and, if they desire, make an appointment to speak with the Director of Admissions.

Faculty Advisor Program

Each entering law student is assigned a faculty advisor who is available to the student to discuss questions or problems related to the law school experience. The Student Bar Association also assigns an upperclass student advisor in conjunction with the Faculty Advisor Program. Many advisors host coffees and other social functions for their advisees at which time issues of common concern can be discussed. Goals of the advisor program include assisting first-year students in their adjustment to law school and increasing interaction between students and faculty.
CURRICULUM

In the day division, the entire first year and part of the second year of law school consist of required courses which offer a broad background in the process of law. In the evening division, the first two years consist of required courses. One elective course may be taken during the second year. Upon completion of the required course work, students may pursue a broad range of elective course work so that they become familiar with the many aspects of law.

Upperclass Day Division students must receive permission from the Office of the Dean to register for fewer than 12 or more than 16 hours. Upperclass Evening Division students must receive permission for fewer than eight or more than eleven hours.

Since all first-year classes are required, each student is assigned to a particular class section. For first and second year required classes, all students in the same section are assigned the same basic schedule. Below is a list of the classes that are required, and therefore assigned, for each semester of law school. The actual order of the classes in an individual’s schedule within any given semester may vary.

CURRICULUM

Twenty courses encompassing the significant areas of taxation law are taught by a faculty of legal scholars and practicing tax attorneys. Classes are held at the College of Law in the heart of downtown Chicago at DePaul’s Loop Campus. To help students meet their professional commitments, classes are held in the evenings and on Saturday mornings. Evening classes are arranged so that students, if they wish, can attend two classes on a given evening.

Master of Laws in Taxation (LL.M.) students may register in person or by mail. LL.M. students may take as few as two hours at one time but must receive permission from the Office of the Dean to register for more than six hours. Additional information on such matters as class attendance, credit, evaluation, grades and transcripts can be found in the J.D. Curriculum section.

In addition to taking the seven required courses listed below, each student must complete an additional eight hours of elective course work. Twenty-eight hours of elective course work are offered, and these courses cover a broad range of interests.
