The Vincentian Character of DePaul University

DePaul, a Catholic university, takes its name from St. Vincent DePaul. The religious community founded by Vincent, commonly known as "Vincentians," opened the university and endowed it with a distinctive spirit: to foster in higher education a deep respect for the God-given dignity of all persons, especially the materially, culturally, and spiritually deprived; to instill in educated persons a dedication to the service of others. In each succeeding generation the women and men of DePaul have pursued learning in this spirit of Vincent DePaul.

THE COLLEGE
OF LAW
Law for a Changing Era

Graduates of law schools today will be practicing in the 21st century. Then, as now, the law will play a part in every area of human enterprise. As scientists chart the vastness of space and explore the origins of life itself, the law will develop to keep pace with the social implications of new knowledge. One prediction we can make about the future of the nation's legal system is that it will become more complex and will make demands on its practitioners for abilities in areas which are open only to speculation today.

The College of Law at DePaul University has created a program sensitive to the needs of a changing society. DePaul prepares students for legal careers but at the same time lays the intellectual foundation to deal with the future. Its diverse curriculum and innovative special programs combine a concern for solid professional education with an emphasis on social policy and an exploration of the ways in which the legal system contributes to change. The College seeks to train leaders as well as legal practitioners.

Students are exposed to a variety of perspectives and teaching methods: these may clarify the law or indicate desired directions of legal reform. As a professional school, the College of Law also develops the students' practical skills. These skills give students the tools needed to solve legal problems in the context of day-to-day practice and to contribute actively through public and community service.

An Urban Law School

Located in the heart of Chicago's Loop, DePaul particularly aims to prepare the lawyer who will be working in the urban setting. The College of Law is especially concerned with the legal needs of those who live and work in urban society. The Vincentian Fathers founded DePaul in 1898 in the belief that their service to the city included preparing lawyers who would help citizens, as well as making legal education available to those citizens who wished to acquire it. DePaul's curriculum reflects this commitment.

A Diverse Curriculum

In view of the broadening areas of life subject to legal control and the range of student career objectives, DePaul endeavors to provide a diverse and innovative curriculum. After an initial grounding in common law and statutory analysis, students are offered an elective curriculum. A basic core of subjects prepares the student for traditional law practice. Advanced courses provide opportunities for work in corporate, criminal, labor, taxation, litigation and other areas of practice. Students also have the opportunity to explore such developing areas of the law as protection of the environment, control of the political process, health law and the various regulatory problems presented by expanding technology. To meet the students' needs and interests, the curriculum undergoes constant re-examination.

A summer session is conducted each year for students who have completed two or more semesters toward their degree. To permit students greater flexibility in their choice of curriculum, classes are scheduled during the day and evening.

The following list of principal course offerings arranged by subject area provides a selective overview of the curriculum. It reflects both the great breadth of the DePaul curriculum and the opportunity for in-depth work in the student's particular area of interest. Further information on these and other courses can be found in the Course Description section.

Legal Writing Program

The Legal Writing Program, a two-semester, four-credit required course, is an integral part of the first-year curriculum. This Program develops skills essential to the practice of law. Work in structured legal analysis, repeated experiences evaluating others’ writing, and a graduated series of writing assignments cultivate the first-year student’s abilities to critically read and analyze legal prose, identify and formulate legal questions, and resolve legal issues. Independent research introduces the student to research tools used in the legal profession. The analytical, writing and research skills mastered in the Legal Writing Program complement the student’s work in the first-year substantive courses.

Students meet weekly with their instructors in small groups. They learn how to apply the principles and methods of legal analysis and to create written products that are clear, well-organized and analytically sound. Weekly meetings with upper-class student teaching assistants supplement the group sessions. Each first-year student discusses with a teaching assistant the concepts and methodology presented by his/her instructor, thereby reinforcing the work done in the larger groups. The individual guidance offered by the instructors and teaching assistants, combined with the content and general structure of the Legal Writing Program, help students to rapidly develop their legal writing skills.

There are many seminar courses and other elective curricular opportunities to further enhance and refine the writing and research skills developed in the writing program. Seminars are regularly offered on a variety of topics. The nonseminar writing courses include:

- Business Transactions & Documentation
- Guided Research
- Hospital Law Editorial Board
- Independent Study
- Law Review
- Legal Writing III: Appellate Brief Writing
- Moot Court Competition
Professional Skills Program

Consistent with American Bar Association policies, the College of Law is deeply committed to education in professional skills. The foundation of professional skills education at DePaul is the first-year Legal Writing Program, which emphasizes writing as the primary professional skill of any lawyer. In the second and third years, this foundation is built upon by a series of courses which emphasize specialized professional skills. These courses are:

Dispute Resolution Skills
- Advanced Mediation
- Arbitration
- Interviewing, Counseling & Negotiation
- Mediation

Drafting Skills
- Business Transactions and Documentation
- Legislation

Litigation Skills
- Advanced Trial Advocacy
- Appellate Techniques
- Moot Court Competitions
- Litigation Strategy: Pretrial Civil
- Litigation Strategy: Pretrial Criminal
- Product Liability: Litigation
- Trial Advocacy

Private Ordering Skills
- Business Planning
- Estate Planning
- Land Use Planning

The above series of courses is supplemented by the DePaul Legal Clinic and the Extern Program.

DePaul Legal Clinic

The DePaul Legal Clinic operates as a general civil practice law office, providing legal services to the lower middle income community. Third-year law students, eligible for a license under Supreme Court Rule 711, are encouraged to participate. The students interview clients, draft pleadings and discovery documents, negotiate settlements and try cases in the state courts, the federal bankruptcy court, and various state and federal administrative agencies.

Three experienced clinical professors supervise the Clinic's activities. Students also attend weekly lectures given by practicing attorneys who are experts in their fields.

Participation in the Legal Clinic exposes students to the organization and procedures of a law office and prepares them for the legal profession's day-to-day pressures. By directly representing clients, students better understand the ethical responsibilities of the attorney-client relationship. While furnishing students with practical experience in the practice of law, the clinic also provides necessary legal services to the community.
Extern Program

The College of Law Extern Program is an academic program in which qualified students may earn up to six hours of credit by engaging in supervised field work. The director of this program assigns students to various government officials and qualified agencies, where they perform the functions of practicing lawyers. Under Illinois Supreme Court Rule 711, students may discharge these responsibilities under the direction of a supervising attorney. Externship opportunities are available with many of the federal, state, county and municipal agencies in the Chicago area. Students in the recent past have obtained experience with such agencies as: the United States Attorney, the National Labor Relations Board, the Internal Revenue Service, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Illinois Attorney General, the State's Attorney for Cook County, the Public Defender for Cook County, the Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago and the Legal Assistance Foundation of Chicago.

Origin

DePaul University was established in 1898. In 1912, the Illinois College of Law became affiliated with DePaul, and Howard N. Ogden, founder and president of the Illinois College of Law, was awarded DePaul's first honorary degree (LL.B.). In 1915, upon Mr. Ogden's death, the Illinois College of Law was absorbed into DePaul University. From a part-time program with a small faculty in the early years, the College of Law has developed today into a predominantly full-time program with a large faculty and a number of special programs and research institutes.

The DePaul Tradition

The College of Law celebrates its 75th anniversary in 1987. Its alumni work in many states and the reputation of its faculty and programs is nationwide. Many of the College's alumni, however, are concentrated in Illinois and surrounding states. More Chicago lawyers graduated from DePaul than from any other law school, and the diversity of DePaul alumni reflects the full range of roles played by the lawyer in modern society. College of Law graduates serve as chief executive officers of several of the area's largest corporations, and fill a variety of other positions in the corporate world. DePaul alumni are leading partners in some of Chicago's great law firms, as well as medium-sized and smaller firms in the area. Many of the state's most successful trial lawyers received their training at DePaul. DePaul graduates serve with distinction in legal services agencies and public service organizations. The 1987 President of the Illinois State Bar Association was a DePaul graduate, as are current and former leaders of other professional organizations.

Alumni of the DePaul University College of Law have made noteworthy contributions to public service in Chicago and Illinois. In 1987, more than one-third of the judges of the Cook County Circuit Court (including the current Chief Judge and several presiding judges of its various divisions) are DePaul graduates—more than have graduated from any two other law schools combined. The Chief Justice of the Illinois Supreme Court and one of the associate justices come from DePaul, as do several United States district judges and the current Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. This tradition of public service extends to involvement in state and city legislative bodies, state executive and administrative agencies, and to city government in Chicago. Two of the last four mayors of Chicago graduated from DePaul. DePaul graduates have long been promiient in the State's Attorney's Office, and the current Cook County State's Attorney is an alumnus of the College.

This tradition of public and community service is not only a historic strength of the College of Law, but is of practical value to its current student body. DePaul's successful alumni in private practice and public service serve as role models, actively participate in the school's career planning and placement programs for students, and help students find legal employment after graduation. Alumni are especially good sources of placements for the College's innovative Extern Program, and many graduates hire law students for part-time employment during the second and third years of law school. The enthusiastic and supportive network of alumni is a major strength of the College.

Faculty and Students

The faculty keeps pace with the growing curriculum. There are 50 full-time and approximately 53 part-time faculty members. The faculty are diverse in age, outlook and background and represent many fields of interest. Faculty members actively engage in scholarly research and writing, as well as lecture and consult with law firms, corporations and other organizations committed to continuing legal education. In addition, members of the faculty serve on bar association and other committees and advisory groups.

Approximately 900 J.D. candidates and 80 LL.M. candidates were enrolled in the 1986-87 academic year. Although a significant number of DePaul's students come from the surrounding metropolitan area, students come to DePaul from virtually every state and several foreign countries. DePaul graduates practice in many jurisdictions throughout the country.

Special Programs

The College of Law offers a combined program with another graduate division of the University. In cooperation with the College of Commerce, the law school offers a program leading to a Juris Doctor and Master of Business Administration.

The College of Law allows Juris Doctor (J.D.) candidates to enroll in health law courses and ultimately to obtain a Certificate in Health Law. Students who satisfy the requirements for the Certificate are awarded the Certificate upon graduation.

The College of Law also offers a program of graduate law study leading to a Master of Laws in Taxation (LL.M.) degree. The LL.M. program is designed to furnish the practicing lawyer with intensive instruction in the substantive and procedural aspects of tax law, with special emphasis on federal taxation. The course work in the program ranges from a review of the basic aspects of income tax and gift and estate tax to the treatment of advanced problems in income taxation of trusts, corporate reorganization and foreign business taxation, and state and local taxation. Academics and practicing members of the bar who specialize in specific areas of tax law are actively involved in the program, both as teachers and as members of a national Advisory Committee of experts in tax law.

The College of Law offers a program in graduate law study that leads to a Masters of Law in Health Law (LL.M.) degree. The LL.M. program is designed to meet the need for lawyers with formal training in the dramatically expanding field of legal issues in health care. The program involves a curriculum of health law courses in the College of Law, elective courses in health care finance and administration in the DePaul Department of Management of Public Services, and special seminars taught in cooperation with the Section of Law and Psychiatry of Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center.
The Chicago Environment

DePaul University and the College of Law benefit greatly by their location in one of America's most dynamic cities. Long the business and financial center of the Midwest, Chicago is increasingly important as an international commercial and professional center. Its law firms — whether large or small, general or specialized — are vital and healthy. Its public service and cultural opportunities are virtually limitless. Moreover, the city is in the midst of a massive rejuvenation process, in which old buildings are being transformed into apartments and shops and neighborhoods are being revived. Two of the most vital of these areas are Lincoln Park, where the main undergraduate campus is located, and the South Loop, immediately adjacent to the College of Law.

Chicago and its suburbs offer both access to the advantages of the city and a variety of comfortable residential options. Combined with an excellent business and legal climate, it makes Chicago an exciting location for both the law student and the practicing lawyer.

Physical Facilities

DePaul University maintains four separate campuses: Lincoln Park, the Loop, O'Hare, and Oakbrook. The Loop campus, in Chicago's central business district, comprises three buildings, housing the University administrative offices, the College of Law, the College of Commerce, the Computer Science Department and the School for New Learning. The Lincoln Park campus is located about three miles north of the Loop, in a residential area. This campus comprises 20 principal buildings. The athletic facilities on the Lincoln Park campus are available for use by law students.

Law classes are held at the Loop campus. The College of Law occupies five floors of the 17-story Lewis Center and the adjoining O'Malley Place. This area contains five large classrooms, a moot court room, a number of seminar and meeting rooms and lounge areas, faculty and administrative offices, the Legal Clinic, the Health Law Institute, the Center for Church/State Studies, the DePaul Law Review and offices for student organizations. The law library occupies three floors of the Lewis Center and is designed as a facility for study and research. The College of Law premises were renovated in 1976 and expanded in 1984.
Law Library

The library of the College of Law, containing over 250,000 bound and microform/microfiche volumes of Anglo-American legal materials and provides both basic and advanced resources needed for study and research in subject areas included in the law school curriculum. The collection includes court reports of American federal and state court systems and court reports of Great Britain, the codes, constitutions and statutes of all fifty states and of the American territories. Duplicate materials allow access to heavily used resources and also permit overnight circulation of many items. Designated an official depository for government publications, the law library offers an excellent collection of federal documents. The collections of tax law, legal periodicals and microforms are outstanding.

New physical facilities for the law library were completed in 1976 and expanded by 50% in 1984. Seating is available for approximately 600 students and includes study carrels, computer rooms, a typing room, video taping and reviewing rooms, and comfortable lounge areas.

The law library is a member of the Library Computer System (LCS), an online system for identifying and borrowing materials from many academic libraries in Illinois. LEXIS and WESTLAW are available to all law students. First-year law students are trained on LEXIS and WESTLAW as part of the Legal Writing Program. A number of personal computers are also available for the law students’ use of Wordperfect, dBase III+ and CAL1 software.

The law library staff consists of nineteen full-time employees, including seven professional librarians. For the convenience of students, faculty and alumni, the reference staff is available seven days a week and five evenings a week.

Also available to law students are the other libraries at DePaul. These libraries are described in this Bulletin under University libraries.
Center for Church/State Studies

The Center for Church/State Studies, established in the spring of 1982, conducts basic and applied research on church/state legal issues. The Center functions as an academic institute and is dedicated exclusively to scholarship. Its Executive Board is composed of nationally prominent legal scholars and practicing attorneys who represent the major religious denominations in the United States.

The Center commissions works by various experts, sponsors conferences and holds an annual lecture series. Past speakers in the lecture series have been: Jesse H. Choper, Dean, School of Law, University of California at Berkley; Dallin H. Oaks, Member, Council of the Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and former Justice of the Utah Supreme Court; John Mansfield of the Harvard Law School; and the Honorable Arlin M. Adams of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. The Center's Executive Board has recently announced a five year research endeavor involving a comprehensive study of the legal structures used by religious organizations to conduct their affairs.

Health Law Institute

The Health Law Institute provides a focus for teaching, research and public education on legal aspects of health care issues. Areas of concern include hospital law, government regulation of medicine, legal and ethical issues in health care, and problems of societal control of new scientific and medical technologies. Activities of the Health Law Institute include the publication of the American Academy of Hospital Attorneys' monthly newsletter, Hospital Law, and the sponsorship of national conferences. The newsletter is staffed by an editorial board of law students supervised by a full-time faculty member.

J.D. students may be able to earn a Certificate in Health Law by enrolling in specified courses in the College of Law and the Department of Public Administration. The College of Law offers an LL.M. Program in health law, as well as a certificate program in health law for nonlawyer health professionals. Although centered in the law school, both programs would be designed to provide students with the interdisciplinary background in law, administration, medicine and ethics needed to be effective professionals in the health law field. Courses currently offered in the College of Law relevant to health law include:

- Health Law Legislative Drafting
- Health Sciences and Public Policies
- Hospital Law
- Law & Medicine
- Law and Psychiatry
- Master's Essay in Health Law
- Master's Seminar in Health Law
- Medical-Legal Ethics
- Professional & Institutional Fault of Health Care Providers
- Public Health Law
- Reimbursement, Medicare and Medicaid
- Science and Medicine in the Litigation Process
- Seminar in Health Law: Selected Topics
- Tax Issues in the Health Care Industry

Tuition Payment Policy

All tuition and fees are due at the time of registration, but no later than the end of the first full week of classes. The University does not accept responsibility for delays by the U.S. Postal Service. Payment must be received in the Cashier's Office or one of its depositories by the due date. For students who are unable to meet this requirement, a $50.00 delinquency fee will be charged.

DePaul University through the EFI-Fund Management Program offers the alternative of paying educational expenses on a convenient monthly basis rather than in lump sums. With some exceptions, qualified applicants are able to insure their educational plans for up to four years. Since this is not a loan program, but a prepaid budget plan, there is no interest charged. Except for the monthly insurance premiums on insured plans, the only charge for the service is a non-refundable annual participation fee of $30.00. Multiple year EFI-FM programs are also available.

The annual EFI-FM program calls for eight monthly payments beginning July 15. Multiple year plans call for eight payments the first year, then twelve payments each year thereafter. While early application is recommended, you may enroll in the plan until October 15 by sending previously due payments with the application and the $30.00 fee. Additional information and application forms can be obtained by calling the EFI-Fund Management Corporation: (312) 564-6242 for Illinois residents, or 1-(800)-323-8399 toll free outside Illinois.

Students whose accounts show a balance due at the end of the fourth week of the term:

- Will not receive transcripts.
- Will be prohibited from future registration.
- Will not receive diplomas.
- Will not be certified as graduates for bar examination purposes.

Refunds/Withdrawal

Charges for courses are based on the period of a student's enrollment beginning with the opening day of the semester until the student initiates an enrollment change to withdraw. Withdrawals must be processed in the College of Law Office either in person or by mail, and will be dated as of the end of the week in which the student signs the form or the letter is postmarked. Simply ceasing to attend or notifying the faculty does not constitute an effective withdrawal.

Upon processing an enrollment change that results in a lower tuition rate, the tuition charge will be reduced according to the following schedule, where the Effective Date is:

Prior to the end of the second week of the term .................. 100%
After the second week of classes ........................................ 0%

All evening students who withdraw from courses and those day students whose withdrawals reduce their enrollment to less than 13 semester hours will be charged according to the preceding schedule. Fees are not refundable. All refunds are initiated by the Cashier's Office only upon receipt of an approved enrollment change and a specific request by the student within one calendar year of the opening of the semester in which the credit accrued.

Students receiving financial aid are advised to contact a financial aid counselor to discuss the consequences of a withdrawal which may affect academic progress and eligibility for aid at DePaul University or at any other school to which they may transfer.
Notes on Tuition and Fees

- A registration from a student with an unpaid balance due from a prior term cannot be processed until the student's prior account balance is settled. Delayed registration will result in the assessment of a late registration fee, loss of registration priority, and possible delay in financial aid allocation.

- Tuition and fees for courses audited are charged at the regular tuition rates, must be paid at the time of registration, and are not refundable.

- Students receiving financial aid in the form of scholarships, tuition grants, or loans — from federal programs, state governments, or DePaul University — must determine whether the amount of aid received equals total tuition and fees each term. In the event a balance due remains, this balance must be paid not later than the end of the first week of the term in order to avoid the Delinquency Fee. Students should be aware that one-half of the annual financial aid award is distributed each semester.

- All charges must be paid in full before students are graduated or certified for the bar exam.

- Courses are subject to cancellation due to insufficient enrollment.

- If a student gives the University a check that is returned by the bank upon which it is drawn, marked "Not Sufficient Funds," "Payment Stopped," or "Account Closed," a charge will be assessed for each such occurrence.

- Any foreign check must be made payable in United States dollars in order to be accepted by the University.
FINANCIAL AID
APPLICATION FOR AND GRANTING OF AWARDS

In a world of ever increasing costs, it is more important than ever to apply for financial assistance. The cost of living and school related expenses are often greater than expected. We strongly recommend that all students take the time to complete the requisite financial aid forms.

The University attempts to meet a student’s calculated need as determined by the Office of Financial Aid from the data which the student provides. Rising tuition costs and increasing numbers of students applying for financial aid, coupled with changing availability of funds in specific programs have caused the College of Law and the University as a whole to re-examine the way in which financial aid is distributed. Our study of the needs of our students and the available financial aid resources has led to the development and institution of a new financial aid philosophy.

Availability of Funds

The University and the College of Law make available financial aid in the form of loans, work-study, tuition grants, and scholarships. Requirements and application periods vary from program to program. Prospective students should apply for financial assistance for the upcoming academic year as soon after January 1 as possible, even if they have not yet received notice of acceptance, as aid is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. If an in-coming student does not apply for financial aid until notification of acceptance is received, some financial aid resources may no longer be available.

Granting of Awards

Under our financial aid philosophy, all students applying for financial aid are required to borrow from, if eligible, the Guaranteed Student Loan program in order to meet the first $7,500 of their need. Students with complete financial aid files and need in excess of $7,500 are automatically considered for tuition grants and Perkins Loans. If interest is expressed in work opportunities, upperclass day and all evening students are considered for College Work-Study awards. First-year day students are not allowed to work and are, thus, ineligible for College Work-Study awards.

Application

In order to be considered for all forms of financial aid, except the Guaranteed Student Loan program and the Supplemental Loans for Students, a student must have a complete financial aid file. All financial aid forms for the upcoming academic year are available after January 1. Since financial aid for prospective students is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis, all forms should be requested and completed as soon after January 1 as possible.

Continuing students also are encouraged to request and complete all application materials as early as possible, and are reminded that all documents required for a complete file must be received in the Financial Aid Office no later than April 22. Direct requests for forms or assistance in completing the forms and questions concerning evaluation of need, packaging and payment should be addressed to:

DePaul University
Office of Financial Aid, Room 1730
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604-2287
Telephone: (312) 341-8526
Complete File

The most important data required for a complete file are:

Financial Aid Form (FAF)
The FAF, along with the appropriate processing fee, should be filed with the College Scholarship Service (CSS) as soon after January 1 as possible so that the results are processed and forwarded to DePaul University in a timely fashion. The results as processed by CSS are one of the requirements for a complete file. Processing may take six to eight weeks. Inquiries about the status of the processing of the FAF should be directed to:

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID

Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL)

Students may obtain applications from and apply directly to a bank or other private lending institution that participates in a state-sponsored GSL program. To borrow through this program, a student must complete an FAF or other need analysis form, as well as provide other documents requested by the Financial Aid Office.

Eligible students may borrow up to a maximum of $7,500 each year from the Guaranteed Student Loan Program (GSL). The loans are provided by participating banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions. The current interest rate is eight percent per year for first-time borrowers. Repayment begins six months after the student is last enrolled on at least a half-time basis, and the federal government subsidizes the interest until the borrower begins repayment. A five percent origination fee is charged to the borrower at the time of disbursement resulting in actual receipt of less than the total award. In addition, some guarantee agencies may charge an insurance fee of up to three percent, which is also deducted from the loan amount. Students are notified of the loan disbursement as soon as the loan check is received by the Office of Financial Aid, and they are instructed to claim their loan checks through the Cashier's Office.

For a list of participating banks, write or telephone the Office of Financial Aid.

Perkins Loan

DePaul University participates in the federally sponsored Perkins (formerly NDSL) loan program. Money received from collections on previous loans and from the federal government is used for these low-interest loans. The amount a student may borrow is based upon evaluated need as determined by the Office of Financial Aid. A maximum program total of $12,000 can be borrowed for undergraduate and graduate studies. Repayment does not begin until six months after the last date of attendance on at least a half-time basis and the current interest charge is five percent. Once awarded, the loan is disbursed through the Cashier's Office, one half of the loan each semester. A complete financial aid file is required.

College Work-Study Program

The federal government has established a fund for participating universities to use as salaries for students in selected jobs. As with loans and scholarships, students apply to the Office of Financial Aid for College Work-Study allocations. However, the Office of Human Resources assists students in locating employment opportunities.

College of Law students may not work in excess of 20 hours per week on College Work-Study jobs while attending school on a full-time basis. This restriction also applies during the summer if the student is enrolled for summer session. A day student may work up to 40 hours per week while not enrolled in classes, provided that earnings do not exceed the College Work-Study allocation awarded. Day students, however, are not permitted to work during the first year of law school. It is necessary to have a complete financial aid file in order to participate in this program.

Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS)

This loan program is available to independent and dependent professional students. A student may borrow up to $4,000 per year in addition to any funds borrowed under the Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL) program. The maximum amount of the loan varies according to the student's educational costs and receipt of other financial assistance. The interest rate is variable, but may not exceed 12 percent. The interest on the loan will be assessed beginning with the date of disbursement, and repayment options can vary. Further information is available from your lending institution or the Office of Financial Aid.

Alternative Loan Programs

There are also several private loan programs through which law students may borrow. Through these programs, which include the Law Access Loan and the Sallie Mae Graded Financing Loan, a student may borrow up to $10,000 per year in addition to any funds borrowed under the Guaranteed Student Loan program. As with the Supplemental Loan for Students program, the maximum amount of the loan varies according to the students educational costs and receipt of other financial assistance. The interest rate is variable, and several repayment options are available. For additional information, please contact the Office of Financial Aid.
Veterans' Benefits

Students should check with the Office of Financial Aid regarding requirements of veterans' benefit programs.

Dean's Scholarships

A significant number of Dean's Scholarships are awarded to especially promising first year students. For the 1988-1989 academic year, these scholarships range from $3,000 to $1,000 per academic year, and are renewed for the second and third years, provided that the recipient maintains at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average.

Special $5,000 one year Dean's Scholarships are awarded to the ten Day Division students who achieve the highest cumulative grade point averages after completion of the first two semesters (31 credits) of course work. If a student who qualifies is already receiving a Dean's Scholarship, the award will be increased to $5,000 for the student's second year of study.

Financial Need Grants and Scholarships

Grant funds are available to assist law students who demonstrate high financial need. The awarding of financial need grants is administered through the Office of Financial Aid in accordance with policies established by the College of Law. A complete financial aid file is necessary to be considered for need-based grants.

A limited number of scholarships are awarded to entering first-year students based upon financial need and academic promise. Upperclass students with high grade point averages are also considered for academic/need-based scholarships. A complete financial aid file is required but no separate application is necessary in order to be considered for these scholarships, which include the following:

Arthur Andersen & Co. Scholarship. The accounting firm of Arthur Andersen & Co. makes a scholarship available annually to a student whose undergraduate record indicates a strong interest in accounting and taxation.

Abel E. Berland Scholarship. This fund, established by Mr. Berland, Vice Chairman of Arthur Rubloff & Co., a 1938 graduate of the College of Law and a member of the University's Board of Trustees, now aggregates more than $75,000. The income from this fund is used to assist deserving law students.

Stanton and Judith Brody Endowed Scholarship. Mr. Brody, a 1949 graduate of the College of Law, and his wife, Judith, established this endowed fund in 1987. The interest from the fund provides scholarships to meritorious students selected by the Dean.

Branstrom Scholarship. A $10,000 trust established in 1972 by William J. and Margaret C. Branstrom provides annual awards for needy law students.

The Chicago Bar Foundation. The Foundation, through an annual gift, provides tuition assistance to a law student selected by the Dean.

Class of 1961 Scholarship. The members of the class of 1961 established this endowed scholarship on the occasion of their 25th reunion in 1986. The award is based on academic merit.

Matthias Concannon Scholarship. The estate of Dagmar P. Concannon established this $175,000 fund, the interest from which is used annually to furnish scholarships to deserving students.
Lawrence S. Daly. DePaul College of Law alumni established this fund in 1982 to honor Professor Daly for his 50 years of excellence in teaching and service to the University. The fund provides annual awards to promising law students with financial need.

Hayes-Healy Scholarship. Ramona Hayes-Healy and the late John F. Healy established this $10,000 scholarship fund; the income is used to assist deserving women law students. Mrs. Hayes-Healy is a 1945 graduate of the College of Law, and a member of the DePaul Woman’s Board and the Kappa Beta Pi legal sorority.

Illinois Bar Foundation Research Fellowship. This award is made annually to one or more third-year students assisting a professor in a research project. The award is based on financial need and academic performance.

Archbishop Iokovis. Established in 1986 by Michael Jaharis, a 1958 College of Law graduate, to provide annual support to evening law students of Hellenic descent.

Lee Shaffron Johnson Scholarship. Established in 1986 by Jerome Johnson, a 1955 graduate of the College of Law, as a tribute to his wife as part of their 50th wedding anniversary celebration. The scholarship fund provides annual support to deserving law students.

Lex Legio Scholarships. Lex Legio is an organization of DePaul University College of Law alumni. One of its major functions is to support the College of Law in its advancement of the legal profession. Each year it provides a number of scholarships to promising law students.

Elizabeth Liggins Scholarship. The estate of Elizabeth Liggins established this $16,000 fund, the interest from which supports a minority law student.

Robert H. Monyek Law Scholarship. Mrs. Harice Monyek, widow of Mr. Monyek, established this fund in 1977 in memory of her husband, a DePaul University College of Law graduate of the class of 1959. This fund provides an award based solely on scholastic excellence to a student in the Master of Laws in Taxation program.

Vincent H. O’Connor Scholarship. Established by the estate of Mr. O’Connor, a graduate of the DePaul College of Law, this memorial scholarship fund provides an annual grant to a deserving student in the College of Law.

Mary and Vincent G. Rinn Scholarship. Established in 1977 by Vincent G. Rinn, a 1931 graduate of the College of Law, this fund provides annual awards to deserving law students.

Edwin A. Robson Scholarship. The endowed scholarship is a gift of the family, former law clerks and friends of the late United States District Judge A. Robson. The fund provides scholarships to law students who demonstrate academic merit.

Rudnick & Wolfe Scholarship. Established in 1986 by the Chicago law firm Rudnick & Wolfe to commemorate its 50th anniversary, this fund provides scholarship support to law students selected by the Dean.

Nathan Schwartz Law Scholarship. This fund was established in memory of Nathan Schwartz, a former DePaul trustee and 1928 law graduate, by his friends.

Searle Scholarship. This fund provides scholarship awards to those students who are on the Editorial Board of the DePaul Law Review.

William H. Stanley Scholarship. The estate of William H. Stanley, a graduate of the College of Law, established this endowed fund, the interest from which is used annually for scholarships to outstanding law students.
Frederick S. Stein Scholarship. This scholarship was established in memory of Frederick S. Stein, a 1939 law graduate, by his wife, family, and friends. It provides an annual award to a deserving law student.

Thomas J. Weithers Memorial Scholarship. The Defense Research Institute, a specialized bar association and resource center for lawyers defending a civil litigation, annually provides a $1,000 scholarship to a student with financial need. The scholarship was established in the memory of Mr. Weithers, a distinguished trial lawyer in Chicago and a past president of the Defense Research Institute.

Separate application is required for the following scholarships administered by the College of Law:

The Judge Daniel P. Coman Memorial Fund. This fund was established by friends of Judge Coman, a 1955 College of Law graduate, and provides an annual award to a law student demonstrating academic excellence and a commitment to local government. The recipient is selected by an Award Panel.

The Decalogue Society of Lawyers Scholarship. An award in honor of Samuel Shkolnik, a 1929 DePaul law graduate, provides an annual award to a needy and worthy Jewish law student.

William R. and Anna M. Dolan Scholarship. The estate of Anna M. Dolan established this $20,000 fund, the interest from which supports a law student of Irish descent.

Elwin Griffith Scholarship Fund. Maintained by the Black Law Student Association to provide scholarships for first year law students.

The Latino Law Student Association Scholarship Fund. This student organization provides tuition assistance to needy Latino law students who have worked and demonstrated interest in community problems. Availability of funds each year determines the number of students to receive awards.

Robert J. O'Rourke Memorial Scholarship. Friends of Mr. O'Rourke, a 1950 College of Law graduate and outstanding government servant, created this scholarship in 1977 to assist a law student who plans a career in public service.

Leo J. Sheridan Memorial Scholarship. This scholarship fund, established in 1976 in honor of Mr. Sheridan, a former DePaul trustee, provides an annual award to a deserving Catholic law student.

Other financial assistance for upperclass law students is available through external organizations. Notices concerning these sources of financial aid are posted on the official bulletin board outside the administrative offices of the College of Law as they are received. Interested students should check the official bulletin board or contact the Assistant Dean for further information.

Each year the Dean of the College of Law is asked to nominate exceptional upperclass law students to compete for the following scholarships:

The Association of Wives of Illinois Lawyers makes available an annual $2,000 scholarship for a law student at an ABA accredited Illinois law school.

The South Suburban Bar Association annually awards a scholarship to a deserving law student.
The Women's Bar Association of Illinois Foundation awards scholarships each year to outstanding second-year or third-year women law students.

Fellowships

The Graduate and Professional Opportunities Program (GPOP). DePaul University College of Law participates in this federal fellowship program which provides for a stipend in addition to full payment of tuition and fees. The program is applicable to highly qualified first-year law students who demonstrate financial need and who are from groups which are underrepresented in the legal profession. The program provides for renewal of a student's fellowship for each year of full-time study. The number of fellowships in a given year is determined by the appropriation made by the Federal Government. All qualified students are automatically considered for available GPOP fellowships.

The Albert and Anne Mansfield Foundation has established a summer fellowship program in legal services for second-year law students.

Prizes and Awards

American Jurisprudence Award. The Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Company and Bancroft-Whitney Company award a certificate and a credit voucher toward the purchase of its publications to the student who scores the highest in any non-seminar class of 12 or more students.

Judge Olga Jurco Award. $100 award and plaque given annually to the most outstanding trial advocacy student.

Samuel and Dorothy Sweig Award for Excellence in Legal Writing. Established by 1986 College of Law graduate Michael Sweig in honor of his grandparents. One award of $150 and two $75 awards are given annually to the three first-year students who demonstrate the greatest ability in legal writing.

Emergency Loan Funds

These funds are made available each year through the generous contributions of alumni and friends.

The Warren J. Hickey Emergency Loan Fund was established by friends and associates of Warren J. Hickey, a noted member of the Trial Bar of Chicago, and provides small, short-term loans to upperclass students who are in need of emergency funds.

The Jameson Emergency Loan Fund was made possible through the generosity of the Jameson Foundation and provides small, short-term loans to first-year students who are in need of emergency assistance.
STUDENT LIFE
UNIVERSITY PROGRAMS, FACILITIES AND SERVICES

ACADEMIC COMPUTING SERVICES

Academic Computer Services (ACS) provides facilities and resources for the purpose of instruction and research at DePaul University. DePaul’s academic network consists of a VAXcluster of two VAX 11/780s, an IBM 4381, a Harris HCX-9, and an AT&T 3B2. Microcomputers are also provided on all campuses to further aid in the objective of achieving computer literacy throughout the University community.

The academic computer facilities currently support 408 computer ports and 512 terminal ports of which 144 are dial-in lines. Approximately 200 terminals and 250 microcomputers are available for student use within the following lab facilities:

Students have access to a variety of software applications, languages, and utilities. Word processing, statistical packages, financial modeling, and database management are available for coursework and research. Computers are used extensively in coursework within the traditional computer science curriculum as well as in commerce, law, and the humanities.

Additional services provided by ACS include quarterly seminar offerings and a microcomputer purchase program. Both services are available to faculty, staff and students. The microcomputer purchase program provides discount purchase arrangements, hardware/software consultation, and end-user training.
Athletic Facilities
An exercise room containing nautilus and weight lifting equipment is available in the Administration Center of the Loop Campus. All other University athletic facilities are located at the Lincoln Park Campus. Alumni Hall houses a swimming pool, a weight room, and a gymnasium. Monthly schedules can be obtained from the Department of Athletics. The Hayes-Healy Athletic Center has additional facilities such as racquetball courts (for a fee), a dance room, and a small gymnasium. A schedule of available hours can be obtained from Alumni Hall and the Hayes-Healy Center. For more information, telephone the Athletic Department at (312)341-8412.

Campus Ministry
Roman Catholic in origin, Campus Ministry is open and available to persons of all faiths and is able to guide you and deepen your particular faith. The Ministry can refer you to the nearest place of worship. You are invited to attend the inter-denominational services on both campuses that are held throughout the year. Daily Mass is offered on both campuses and Sunday Mass is offered on the Lincoln Park Campus.

Offices are located on the second floor of the Stuart Center on the Lincoln Park campus and in Room 1630 of Lewis Center on the Loop campus. For information telephone (312)341-8515 or 341-6910.

Health Insurance
Health insurance is available to all students and their dependents at a cost of approximately $230 per year for a single student participating in the basic program. Students are urged to take advantage of this coverage. The insurance is optional and not covered by tuition or other fees. Applications and claim forms for insurance are available from the Student Life Office, Room 403, Lewis Center and the Student Affairs Office, Room 313, Stuart Center, Lincoln Park Campus.

Housing
On-campus. All on-campus housing is located at the Lincoln Park campus and is limited. Law students are eligible to apply for positions as resident advisers. The selection process begins during February prior to the Fall term in which students will serve as residence advisers. Interested students should contact the Director of Residence Life.

Off-campus. The Residence Life Office has made arrangements with several off-campus sites for use only by law and graduate students. For this information, contact the office at the address below.

Another option is our off-campus housing referral service. This service provides listings of apartments, rooms, work-exchanges and people seeking roommates in the Lincoln Park area as well as other areas of the city. During the academic year the Housing Referral Office is located in the lobby of Corcoran Hall, 910 West Belden Avenue, and during the summer at Clifton Hall, 2312 North Clifton Avenue.
For additional information write or call:

Associate Director of Residence Life
DePaul University

Service and Information Centers

Service and Information Centers are located on the first floor of the Stuart Center and at 403 Lewis Center. Mimeographing, sign-making and photocopying are available at a nominal fee at the Stuart Center location. The Loop Campus Service and Information Center is generally open Monday through Friday 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

University Centers

The University Centers are comprised of the Stuart Center at the Lincoln Park Campus and the 4th floor of the Lewis Center at the Loop Campus. The Lewis Center is the community center for all the members of the College of Law faculty, staff, students, alumni and guests. Both Centers provide facilities, services and conveniences to the members of the DePaul Community for their daily life on campus, as well as opportunities for informal interaction outside the classroom.

Facilities and services at both campuses include recreation areas, food service areas, TV and study lounges, a variety of meeting and conference rooms, electronic message boards, the Service and Information Centers, student organization mailboxes and professional staff offices. The Student Center houses office space for University-sponsored student organizations: DePaul Activities Board, DePaulia, Greek Council, Student Association, and W.D.P.U. Radio Station.

To maintain a quality food service operation, the University Center holds a liaison relationship with the campus food service. A variety of dining facilities are offered—the cafeteria, Vincent's (Lincoln Park Campus only) and the Faculty Dining Room. Catering services are also offered.

University Counseling Services

DePaul students, staff and employees are offered a wide range of counseling services. The services provided on a time-limited basis include: individual, group, family and marital counseling as well as periodic workshops. The Community Mental Health Center is located in Byrne Hall, 2219 N. Kenmore Avenue, on the Lincoln Park campus. Confidentiality is always maintained by the Center. Fees are based on a sliding scale. However, no one will be denied service due to inability to pay. For additional information, telephone (312) 341-8292.

The University Libraries

The DePaul Libraries are divided into five different units: the Lincoln Park Campus Library, the Loop Campus Library, the Law Library, the Oak Brook Campus Library and the O'Hare Campus Library. In the DePaul Libraries, the delivery of information and materials is increasingly linked to computer technologies. The DePaul Libraries are participants in Illinet Online which functions as an online catalog to materials in all the DePaul Libraries, and also can be used for subject, author, and title access to the holdings of 300 other Illinois libraries. Another compo-
Illinet Online is an online circulation system for the libraries of 28 other colleges and universities in Illinois. It provides online information on the availability of circulation items with the capacity to check them out and have them sent directly to DePaul. A second computer system, OCLC, can be used to locate and obtain materials throughout the United States. In addition, access to information resources in the sciences, social sciences, business, and humanities is available both on CD-ROM (compact disc read-only memory) and online systems.

The combined collection of the DePaul University Libraries includes nearly 528,000 volumes, 121,000 microform volumes, over 8,700 current serial subscriptions, and a varied microcomputer software and audiovisual collection. Handbooks, brochures, and bibliographies explaining library services, describing the physical arrangement of the libraries, and detailing various aspects of the collection are available in all five locations.

The Lincoln Park Campus Library supports programs in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the School of Education, the School of Music, and the Theatre School. Areas of particular strength are religion, philosophy, and Irish studies. The library also has a microcomputer with 20 IBM-compatible computers, a media area for using audio-visual materials, an Education Resource Center with materials for elementary and secondary school teaching and Apple microcomputers, the Verrona Williams Derr Collection of Afro-American studies, an art slide collection, and a collection of music recordings and scores. Rare book collections include the Napoleon Collection, the Dickens Collection, and the Sporting Collection, as well as numerous titles dealing with nineteenth-century literature and book illustration. The University Archives contains various materials documenting the growth and development of DePaul.

The Loop Campus Library primarily contains business materials to support the programs of the College of Commerce but also has core collections of materials in other areas. It has a Career Information Center that provides computer access to and materials on career choice, job search techniques and company information. The Reference Department maintains the industry file and the corporate annual report file. A microfiche collection of annual reports dating back to 1978 and Moody’s Manuals starting with 1920 also are available.

The library of the College of Law has an extensive collection of Anglo-American legal materials, and provides both basic and advanced resources needed for study and research in the law school curriculum. The collection includes reports of American federal and state courts; court reports of Great Britain; the codes, constitutions and statutes of all fifty states and American territories; materials on tax law; and legal periodicals. Designated an official depository for government publications, the Law Library provides a comprehensive collection of federal documents.

The Oak Brook and O’Hare Campus Libraries offer an innovative approach to library service by providing access to information using computers and telecommunications. There are no permanent book or magazine collections; Illinet Online or OCLC are utilized to identify needed books which are then sent to the suburban campuses in a scheduled intra-university shuttle. Journal articles are transmitted from the two main campus libraries by telefacsimile machines.
STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Students are encouraged to participate in student organizations and activities which will allow them to form associations that will enrich their professional experience.

Publications

The most noteworthy publication is the DePaul Law Review. The Law Review is published quarterly under the direction of a student board of editors. Issues contain articles by practicing lawyers, judges and law professors. Student members of the Law Review contribute articles discussing recent cases and developments in the law.

Participation in the Law Review is open to all qualified students after their first semester. Eligibility is determined on the basis of scholastic achievement and a writing competition. Election to the Editorial Board of the Law Review is a high honor. Members are considered to be among the outstanding students in their class. In addition, board members receive tuition assistance and academic credit.

Hospital Law. Edited and published by DePaul College of Law for the American Academy of Hospital Attorneys of the American Hospital Association, this monthly newsletter provides current information on cases, issues and developments in the hospital law field. DePaul students have the opportunity to earn course credit for work on this publication.

Organizations

All law students are members of the DePaul Student Bar Association (SBA). The Association is affiliated with the American Law Students Association and the student division of the American Bar Association. SBA sponsors social functions, invites outstanding speakers to the law school, helps organize the orientation for first-year law students, and provides student representation on faculty committees.

The DePaul Moot Court Society is composed of students interested in developing their legal research, brief writing, oral advocacy and other lawyering skills. Each student fully analyzes and briefs a hypothetical problem and in the intramural Moot Court Competition argues the case under the scrutiny of practicing attorneys and judges. Successful completion of the Competition qualifies Society members for positions on National Moot Court Teams and the Executive Board. The Executive Board provides responsible students with the opportunity to participate in the administration of the DePaul Moot Court Program, as well as the Client Counseling and Negotiation Competitions. DePaul's National Teams participate in a number of National Moot Court Competitions, including meets sponsored by the Bar of the City of New York, the American Bar Association, the American Society of International Law, and Universities across the country.

Two law fraternities, Phi Alpha Delta and Delta Theta Phi, have chapters at DePaul. These organizations bring students together for study, professional meetings, and social functions.

The Black Law Students Association (BLSA) seeks to represent the needs and promote the goals of black law students within the University.

The Computer Law Society was established to bring together students who have an interest in this field.
The Decalogue Society of Lawyers, the professional bar association for Jewish lawyers, has a student chapter on campus.

The Justinian Society of Lawyers is a professional society of judges, lawyers and law students of Italian descent who are concerned with promoting the general welfare of its members. A student chapter of the Justinian Society exists on campus.

The Latino Law Student Association (LLSA) was formed in 1973 to provide guidance to entering Latino students and to promote the full participation by Latino students in the law school community. Open to all students, LLSA awards an annual scholarship to a first-year student and honors a practicing attorney active in Hispanic community matters.

The Mediation Society seeks to educate the DePaul community and the public about mediation — an alternative to the litigation process for resolving disputes. In addition, the projects and activities of the Society help students develop their mediation skills.

The National Lawyers Guild—DePaul Student Chapter. The DePaul Student Chapter of the National Lawyers Guild seeks to educate students about progressive responses to current local and national economic and civil rights issues. Its parent organization is the National Lawyers Guild, an alternative professional organization for attorneys.

The Women's Law Caucus provides a forum for discussing and analyzing the role of women in the legal profession and the impact of law on women's rights. The Caucus helped develop and structure a course on sex-based discrimination and has sponsored various conferences on such topics as Women and the Law, Women in Sports, Legal Issues of Women's Health, and Pornography and the First Amendment.

In 1980, the Comparative Law Society and the DePaul Society of International Law merged to form the International Comparative Law Society. This group attempts to increase interest in and an understanding of comparative and international law through a program of speakers and panel discussions.

Other Activities

Early in the Spring semester, the annual intramural Client Counseling Competition is held. Teams of two students each compete in the interviewing and counseling of a “client.” The participants are given a very brief description of a problem that the “client” will be coming in to discuss with them. The objective is to establish a professional rapport with the “client,” and to elicit the information necessary to give the “client” the best advice.

Each team's performance is judged by a panel of two lawyers and a psychiatrist, psychologist or social worker. The winning team represents the College of Law in the Regional Client Counseling Competition, the winner of which represents the region in the National Competition. These competitions are sponsored by the American Bar Association.

The intramural Client Counseling Competition is open to all students. Participants experience a client interview and benefit from a constructive critique of their performance by the judges.

DePaul also sponsors an annual intramural Negotiation Competition, organized by the American Bar Association. The Negotiation Competition is structured similar to the Client Counseling Competition, but focuses on the skills needed for effective and successful negotiation.
Student Employment On-Campus

Limited on-campus jobs are available to upperclass law students. Second-year and third-year students can apply for openings as research assistants for any of the full-time faculty members or deans. For a five or six-week period in the spring of each year, upperclass students may also apply to assist first-year students in learning to use the LEXIS equipment in the Law Library.

Placement and Career Development

To assist law students and alumni in the pursuit of a legal career, the Office of Placement and External Affairs provides career counseling and is actively involved in job placement. To this end, the staff of the Office offers a range of services: career information programs, workshops on resume writing, effective interviewing techniques and the methods of conducting a job search, an extensive program of on-campus interviews during the fall and spring semesters, and up-to-date listings of current positions with law firms, corporations, governmental agencies, the judiciary, and other organizations.

Alumni participate in the placement and career development effort. A new service offered by the Office of Placement and External Affairs is The Career Mentor Program. Matched with a volunteer alumnus/alumna, students receive valuable insights and information concerning today’s practice of law. The Alumni also co-sponsor an annual “Law Career Day,” at which prominent College of Law graduates present their perspectives on a range of career options and areas of practice. Facilities and materials available to students and alumni include the recently expanded Placement library (housing current job listings and reference materials) and the DePaul Placement Handbook, a publication which is updated annually. The Handbook contains suggestions on what to expect when entering a particular area of practice, sample resumes, cover letters, and a system for developing personal career goals.

Alumni Activities

Law Alumni are entitled to numerous benefits as graduates of DePaul University. One benefit potentially of interest is continued access to the College of Law library. Alumni must display their alumni card to use the facilities. Further alumni benefits information and alumni cards can be obtained by contacting:

GENERAL
INFORMATION
ACADEMIC INFORMATION

Registration
The College of Law registers first year Juris Doctor (J.D.) students by mail and upperclass students through a drop-off process. Late registrants are charged an additional fee.

All students must receive prior permission from a Dean to receive credit for courses taken outside the College of Law. All required courses must be taken at DePaul. Exceptions to this policy are rare and are granted only upon a strong showing of necessity.

Class Attendance
Regular and punctual class attendance is required. Irregular classroom attendance may result in an involuntary withdrawal. If a student is involuntarily withdrawn from a class, full tuition is due and the student will receive a grade of "Fx" in the course.

Credit
In the College of Law, official credit is awarded in semester hours. Courses normally carry one, two, three or four semester hours of credit. A student usually will spend a minimum of one hour a week in class for each credit hour earned.

Evaluation
In seminars, clinical courses, guided research, and independent study, the course grade generally will be based on written work and class participation. In other courses, the grade will generally be based solely on the anonymously graded final examination. Instructors may modify these criteria and must provide the criteria for evaluation in writing to the Dean and to the students on the first class meeting.

Grades
Grades used by the College of Law are:
A (4.0 quality points) with highest distinction
B+ (3.5 quality points) with high distinction
B (3.0 quality points) with distinction
C+ (2.5 quality points) with high competence
C (2.0 quality points) with competence
D (1.0 quality points) with marginal competence
F (0.0 quality points) non-credit performance
Fx a grade for non-credit performance based on excessive absences with no withdrawal
IN a temporary grade for incomplete work (automatically changed to an F if work is not completed by the end of the following regular semester)
W withdrawal with permission
P Pass
Pass/No Credit Policy

Certain J.D. law school courses may be taken on a Pass/No Credit basis. The credit earned in such a course is not averaged into the student's grade point average; however, the credit will appear in the earned hours section on the student's academic record. Should a student fail a course taken under this policy, no credit will be awarded and an 'F' will be entered on the student's academic record; however, the failure will not be averaged into the student's grade point average.

Audit Policy

Students may audit any nonrequired course for which they do not wish to receive grades or credit, subject to the regular registration rules and procedures. The normal tuition and fee charges apply to audited courses.

Transcripts

The Registrar of the University records all grades onto each student's transcript. Students wishing official copies of their transcripts should request them from the University Registrar in writing at least a week before they are needed. The University will send transcripts directly to the institution designated by the student. Transcripts will not be issued to students whose accounts with the University are in arrears and will not be issued during registration.

Student Files

Students may examine information contained in their official student files. Should a student wish information contained in his or her file to be released to another person or institution, the student must complete a release form or provide other written authorization for the release of information. Under no circumstances will information be provided by telephone to the student or to another person or institution.

Classification of J.D. Students

Students are classified for administrative purposes (including some forms of financial aid) based on the number of semester hours successfully completed.

Day Division
First Year — fewer than 31 semester hours
Second Year — 31 or more but fewer than 55 semester hours
Third Year — 55 or more semester hours

Evening Division
First Year — fewer than 18 semester hours
Second Year — 18 or more but fewer than 36 semester hours
Third Year — 36 or more but fewer than 55 semester hours
Fourth Year — 55 or more semester hours
Degree Requirements

To graduate, a J.D. student must:

- Complete 86 credit hours of work including no more than 12 hours of non-classroom work.
- Complete all first and second year required courses, one seminar course and must take and pass Legal Profession.
- Maintain a 2.0 grade point average overall and for each academic year. Each academic year begins with the summer session and ends with the spring semester.
- Earn six semesters of residency in the day division or eight semesters of residency in the evening division.
- Complete Application for Degree (forms are available from the Office of Student Affairs within the College of Law).
- Transfer students and DePaul students who are visiting other colleges must complete at least 56 credits of their law study at DePaul.

Dismissal

Students will be dismissed for poor academic performance. Students must maintain at least a 2.0 grade point average overall and for each academic year. For purposes of calculating a student’s grade point average, the academic year begins with the summer session and ends at the conclusion of the spring semester, regardless of whether the student is in residence for the full term, and regardless of how many credits are earned in that period.

Students who are dismissed may not register for courses in the College of Law unless and until they are readmitted to good standing. A student who is dismissed but registers for summer courses prior to receipt of grades for the academic year will not receive grades or credit for summer course work unless and until readmitted to good standing in the College of Law.

Non-Classroom Credit

A student may not register for more than 12 hours of non-classroom credit during his/her law school career.

Non-classroom credit offerings include the following:

- Extern Program
- Guided Research
- Hospital Law Editorial Board
- Independent Study
- Law Review
- Legal Clinic
- Moot Court

The requirements for these non-classroom offerings can be found in the Course Description section.
Calculating Residency

A Day Division student will receive one residency unit for each semester in which the student completes 12 credits or more. An Evening Division student will receive one residency unit for each semester in which the student completes 9 credits or more.

If a Juris Doctor student enrolls in or completes fewer credit hours than those needed to receive a residency unit in his/her respective division, he/she will receive a prorated fraction of a residency unit. Credit hours completed during summer sessions are also prorated.

Under no condition may a Juris Doctor student receive more than 1 residency unit per semester (regardless of the number of hours he/she may have completed). The only exception permitted is for a day student who transfers to the evening division.

When students change divisions within the College of Law, their residency units are affected. When a day student transfers to the evening division, he/she receives 1.25 residency units for every 1 residency unit earned in the day division. Conversely, an evening student who transfers to the day division receives .75 of a residency unit for every 1 residency unit earned in the evening division.

Students who change divisions should be sure to check with the Office of the Assistant Dean regarding exact residency requirements resulting from the division change.

Day division students who take more than two evening division classes receive evening division residency for that semester regardless of how many total credits are taken.

Regular and punctual class attendance is necessary to satisfy residency and class hour requirements.

Any student who plans to accelerate his/her graduation date should verify with the Office of the Dean that such an acceleration will fulfill his/her residency requirements.

Transfer students to the College of Law should likewise verify residency requirements as they relate to their anticipated graduation date.

Degree With Honor

Upon recommendation of the Dean and faculty, the degree Juris Doctor With Honor may be conferred upon those in each graduating class who rank in the top 10 percent of their class.

Accelerating Graduation

Students in the day division may accelerate the six semester program of study by electing to enroll in five semesters and two summer sessions, so that the total summer hours completed equals at least twelve hours.

Students in the evening division may accelerate the eight semester program of study by electing to enroll in seven semesters and two or three summer sessions with a combined total of at least nine hours.

Due to residency requirements day students may not graduate in fewer than two and one-half calendar years and evening students may not graduate in fewer than three and one-half calendar years regardless of having earned 86 credit hours.
STUDENT CONDUCT

College of Law students should conduct themselves according to the high standards of the profession they are preparing to enter. Students are expected to behave responsibly and professionally, and should become informed about, and willingly comply with, all College of Law rules and procedures. Students are presumed to have knowledge of, and are expected to conform to, The DePaul University College of Law Honor Code (available from the Office of the Dean), The DePaul University Code of Student Responsibility (printed in The DePaul University Student Handbook), and The Illinois Code of Professional Responsibility for attorneys (available from the Illinois Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission). In the event of a conflict, the provisions in The DePaul University College of Law Honor Code shall govern. Students are responsible for all notices and other information posted on the ninth floor Official Bulletin Boards.
COLLEGE OF LAW PROCEDURES

Examination Scheduling

Students are responsible for selecting courses that do not create conflicts in their exam schedules.

Students must take all examinations, as scheduled, for the courses and sections in which they are enrolled. Any student (including a graduating senior) who, without permission, takes an examination for a section other than the one for which that student is registered will receive a grade of "F" for the course.

Only the Office of the Dean reschedules examinations. Faculty members may not reschedule examinations. An examination will not be rescheduled except in the most compelling circumstances. A student requesting an examination change must provide documentation, such as a medical report, of the circumstances necessitating a change in the examination schedule. Any student who, without permission, does not take a scheduled examination will receive a grade of "F" for the course.

Examination procedures are explained by the proctor prior to each examination. Copies of the procedures are available from the Office of the Dean.

Submission of Seminar/Research Papers

Some courses are designated "seminar courses" and do not have examinations but require the completion of a research paper.

Research papers are due on the date specified by the professor. Papers may be due before or after the exam period and should be submitted to the Professor or to the receptionist or another staff member in Room 931. No paper will be accepted by the receptionist or by any other staff member in Room 931 unless the paper is in a sealed envelope and the following identifying information is on the outside of the envelope:

- the Professor's name
- the Name and Section Number of the Course
- the Date
- the Student's Name (Anonymous Number or other appropriate number such as the student's Social Security Number if the paper is to be anonymously graded).

Students should obtain a receipt for the paper and retain a copy of the paper.
Changing Divisions

With the permission of a dean, students may transfer from the day to the evening division, or from the evening to the day division. A transfer will be effective as of the end of the semester in which permission to transfer is granted. Students should be aware that a division transfer may affect the required period of residence and financial aid and loan deferment eligibility.

Withdrawal/Leave of Absence

Students may withdraw from the College of Law at any time. If withdrawal occurs after the second week of a semester, the student will remain liable for that semester’s tuition. Anyone contemplating this step must contact the Office of the Dean and the Office of Financial Aid (if aid has been awarded). Procedures for effecting a withdrawal include: an interview with a member of the Office of the Dean and with a member of the Office of Financial Aid (if aid has been awarded), as well as a formal request for withdrawal submitted in writing to the Office of the Dean after the interviews. The student is then notified by letter of the effective date of withdrawal and the conditions for readmission in good standing.

A student who has completed at least one semester and is in good standing may request a leave of absence at the conclusion of, or during the course of, any given semester. A student must submit a written request for a leave of absence to the Office of the Dean and only in properly documented extenuating circumstances. A leave of absence is granted at the discretion of the Office of the Dean. No leave of absence will be granted for more than one year. Any student who does not return for the semester immediately after the leave expires will be treated as having permanently withdrawn and can only be reinstated by reapplication to the College of Law.
Credit at Another Law School

To obtain credit for courses taken at other schools, the following procedures must be followed:

1. All course work undertaken at another college of law must be approved in advance. Generally, if the College of Law offers a particular course, approval to take the course at another school will not be given.

2. Students must submit to the Assistant Dean a letter containing the following information:
   (a) The name of the other college of law (it must be approved by both the ABA and the AALS).
   (b) Complete mailing address of the other college of law and the name to whose attention any correspondence should be sent.
   (c) Type of grading system utilized by the other college of law. If a numerical scale is used, the equivalent for letter grades must be supplied.
   (d) Number of credit hours for which the student intends to register and whether they are semester or quarter hours.
   (e) Complete course titles.
   (f) Descriptions of the courses (as described in the college of law bulletin).
   (g) Student’s complete mailing address, phone number, division, year, and social security number.

3. If the arrangements are satisfactory, a letter will then be sent to the other college of law indicating that the DePaul student is a student in good standing.

4. DePaul will accept transfer credit for approved courses at another college of law for academic work which is "C" or better. No credit will be accepted for academic work which is below a "C"; thus no credit will be accepted for academic work which is "C-".

5. It is the student’s responsibility to make sure that all transcripts are sent to DePaul University College of Law. Transcripts should be sent to the attention of the Administrative Director of Student Services.

6. If the school the student will be attending is on a quarter system, all credit hours earned will be converted into semester hours.

7. The maximum number of semester hours which can be accepted from another college of law is thirty. For a summer session, the maximum is generally six semester hours.
Enrollment in Non-Law Courses

Students who want to receive credit for courses taken outside of the College of Law may do so only with the permission of the Office of the Dean. To receive law credit, the student must demonstrate that the course relates directly to the law degree and covers a subject area not covered in the law school curriculum. The maximum amount of nonlaw credit that can be applied to the law degree is 10 semester hour credits.

711 License Applications

Pursuant to Rule 711 of the Rules of the Supreme Court of Illinois, a student may be certified by the Dean to be eligible to perform certain legal services if he/she has completed 52 hours of legal study and is in good academic standing. Applications are available in Room 931.

Grade Challenges

A University grade challenge process is available to students who object to a grade on either of two grounds:

1) The methods or criteria for evaluating academic performance explained by the instructor at the beginning of the course were not actually applied in determining the grade; the grade was determined by criteria other than those explained to the students.

2) The instructor applied predetermined criteria unfairly; the evaluation of academic performance so exceeded the reasonable limits of the instructor’s discretion as not to be acceptable to the instructor’s peers.

A student who wishes to challenge a grade on either of these grounds must submit a challenge by the end of the semester following the one in which the course was taken. A grade challenge will not be accepted until the student has discussed the grade with the instructor. Grade challenge forms and complete information on the grade challenge process are available in the Office of the Dean.

Readmission Application

Students who fail to maintain a 2.0 average overall or for any academic year measured at the end of the spring semester are automatically dismissed.

Once dismissed, a student may file a written petition for readmission with the Office of the Dean. The Faculty Committee on Academic Regulations and Readmissions will judge the petition to determine if the student has the potential and motivation to complete the requirements for the Juris Doctor degree successfully. Additional information on the readmission process, including the criteria for readmission, is available from the Assistant Dean.
JURIS
DOCTOR
The first degree in law offered by the College of Law is the Juris Doctor. The College of Law offers a full-time three-year day program and a part-time four-year evening program. By taking advantage of summer sessions, a student may accelerate graduation by one semester.

Day Division

The College of Law day division program is designed exclusively for full-time students. Acceptance of a position in the day division represents a commitment to that concept. Any employment or other significant outside involvement is inconsistent with that commitment. No adjustments in schedule or in academic regulations are made to accommodate employment or other activities. First-year day division students are strictly prohibited from any outside employment; and upper-class students, while attending school on a full-time basis, by American Bar Association regulations, may not work in excess of 20 hours per week.

Evening Division

The evening division is designed for people seeking a law degree who must work full-time in order to fund their education. The courses offered in the evening division are identical to those offered during the day and are taught essentially by the same faculty. Students in the evening division take fewer courses each term than the day division students. A student in the evening division typically undertakes 9 to 12 hours of credit work each term, compared with 12 to 16 hours in the day program.

APPLICATION AND ADMISSION

Who May Apply

Students with a bachelor's degree or who will have received such a degree prior to July of the year for which admission is sought are eligible to apply. In no event will anyone be permitted to matriculate to the College of Law who has not yet received a bachelor's degree. No specific field of major study or particular courses are prescribed. First-year students are admitted for classes beginning in August only.

How to Apply

An application for admission is required. Mail the completed application and all future correspondence to:

DePaul University
College of Law
Office of Admissions
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604-2287
Telephone: (312) 341-6831

Selection for admission to the College of Law is based upon the total application rather than upon any one factor. Undergraduate academic performance and Law School Admission test scores are highly significant in admissions considerations. Personal qualities which demonstrate intellectual depth, high ideals, diligence and qualities associated with leadership are considered, as are economic, societal or educational obstacles which have been successfully overcome. Diversity of interest, background and experience among the members of each entering class is a continuing objective. In addition, the candidate's prior relations with the DePaul University community and the potential for furthering DePaul's institutional goals are considered.

DePaul University has a non-discriminatory admissions policy: it does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age or handicap.

Early application is recommended. First-year students are advised to have all application forms and supporting documents filed with the College of Law by April 15 of the year for which they are applying. A large number of applicants compete each year for a limited number of openings.

Law School Admission Test (LSAT)

Applicants must take the LSAT, which administers the test four times a year at several hundred locations.

Applicants may obtain an application and a bulletin of information by writing directly to:

Law School Admission Council
Law School Admission Services
Box 2000-R
Newtown, Pennsylvania 18940-0998

The Bulletin lists the dates when applications must be filed, the specific days which the test will be given, and the places where the test may be taken.

Applications for the test and the fee must be received in Newtown, Pennsylvania, not later than four weeks prior to the date of the test.

No application will be processed unless accompanied by a Law School Application Matching Form which is included in the applicant's LSAT/LSDAS registration packet. Test scores are valid for four years.

Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS)

DePaul uses the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) to analyze transcripts. Applicants must send college transcripts directly to:

Law School Admission Council
Law School Admission Services
Box 2000-R
Newtown, Pennsylvania 18940-0998

Applicants who have been admitted must send final official transcripts to DePaul prior to their enrolling.

Transfer Applicants

DePaul accepts a limited number of transfer students who have completed at least one full year of study at a law school approved by the American Bar Association and who have achieved an above average record of academic work at the previous law school. Transfer students must meet all the regular requirements for admission. Specific instructions are listed on the admissions application.
Foreign Applicants

Applicants from foreign countries should present TOEFL scores and complete official transcripts with a translation of the credits granted by the foreign institution. In general, no advanced credit is granted for law work done outside the United States, but the Committee on Admissions reviews all foreign applications and may make exceptions.

Other Applicants

A student in good standing at a law school approved by the ABA and the AALS, who intends to transfer College of Law credits to his or her law school, may apply for admission. The student must submit a letter explaining the reasons for enrolling, a letter from the Dean of the current law school verifying good standing and the conditions under which credit will be approved and an official law school transcript. Those documents and the Student-at-Large Application must be received one week before classes begin.

Practicing attorneys who wish to earn College of Law continuing legal education credit and licensed health care professionals who intend to earn health law credit may also apply. They must submit a copy of their license, an official college transcript and the Continuing Professional Education/Health Law Certificate Application one week before classes begin.

Veterans' Benefits

DePaul is an approved institution for veterans' training. Veterans seeking information should write to:

DePaul University
Office of Financial Aid, Room 1730
Veterans’ Coordinator
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604-12287

Deposit

Newly-admitted students are required to submit a non-refundable deposit of $200.00 after acceptance. This deposit is applied to the first semester's tuition. A second deposit is required at the time of registration.

Interviews

In view of the large number of applicants, personal interviews are not part of the admissions process at DePaul. However, applicants are invited to visit the College of Law and to make an appointment to speak with the admissions staff.

Faculty Advisor Program

Each entering law student is assigned a faculty advisor who is available to the student to discuss questions or problems related to the law school experience. The Student Bar Association also assigns an upperclass student advisor in conjunction with the Faculty Advisor Program. Many advisors host coffees and other social functions for their advisees. Goals of the advisor program include assisting first-year students in their adjustment to law school and increasing student and faculty interaction and dialogue.
CURRICULUM

In the day division, the first year and part of the second year of law school consist of required courses which offer a broad background in the law. In the evening division, the first two years consist almost entirely of required courses. Upon completion of the required course work, students may pursue a broad range of elective course work.

Upperclass Day Division students must receive permission from the Office of the Dean to register for fewer than twelve or more than sixteen hours. Evening Division students must receive permission for fewer than nine or more than twelve hours.

Since all first-year classes are required, each student is assigned to a particular section. For first and second year required classes, all students in the same section are assigned the same basic schedule. Below is a list of the classes that are required. The actual order of the classes in an individual’s schedule within any given semester may vary.

Third Year – All courses are elective.

Fourth Year – All courses are elective. Prior to graduation, all students must complete one seminar course, and must take and pass “Legal Profession.”

Seminar courses have been offered on the following topics:

- Advanced Bankruptcy
- Civil Rights
- Comparative Law
- Constitutional Issues in Education
- Constitutional Law: First Amendment Religion Clauses
- Consumer Protection
- Environmental Law
- First Amendment Freedoms: Freedom of Speech and the Press
- The Individual and the Union
- Injunctions
- Intellectual Property
- International Business Transactions
- International Criminal Law

- Senior Research Seminar
- Sports Law

An Independent Study may be substituted to satisfy the seminar requirement, provided the student otherwise meets the qualifications for an independent study.

Contents of these courses and all elective courses are included in the section on Course Descriptions. Note, however, that seminar courses vary from semester to semester. Students, therefore, must check the registration materials each semester to determine whether or not a specific course meets the seminar requirement.
COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Accounting and the Law (3 credit hours) 476. This course provides a survey of accounting principles and issues relevant to the practice of law. Topics include accounting methods and procedures, accounting issues in business, corporate and tax law and the use of accounting data in financial analysis and business planning. This course is not open to students with an undergraduate major in accounting or with an equivalent background.

Administrative Process (3 credit hours) 508. This course reviews the powers and procedures of federal, state and local administrative bodies as they affect private parties, including administrative jurisdiction, adjudication, rule-making, methods of decision, rules of evidence and judicial review. Prerequisites: Constitutional Process I and II.

Advanced Civil Procedure (3 credit hours) 220. This course analyzes selected topics in state and federal civil litigation. Topics include (but are not limited to) the history of the writ system, pre-trial practice, trial practice, appellate practice, and special problems of complex litigation. Prerequisite: Civil Procedure.

Advanced Criminal Procedure: Pre-Trial (3 credit hours) 464. This course offers an in-depth analysis of the decision to prosecute, restraints and prerogatives in the acquisition and use of evidence of criminal conduct, the law of arrest, search and seizure, interrogation, pre-trial detention, preliminary hearings, pre-trial motions, plea bargaining and other selected topics related to the pre-trial phase of criminal prosecutions. Prerequisites: Criminal Law and Criminal Procedure.

Advanced Criminal Procedure: Trial and Post-Trial (3 credit hours) 465. This course analyzes the various aspects of a criminal trial, including jury selection, opening and closing statements, and trial strategy, with primary emphasis on the fundamentals of criminal trial advocacy. The processes which normally follow acquittal or conviction of an individual charged with a crime are also studied. Prerequisites: Criminal Law and Criminal Procedure.

Advanced Evidence in Criminal Cases (3 credit hours) 467. A study of the criminal trial from jury selection to jury instructions and verdict. The course emphasizes such traditional rules of evidence as hearsay, relevancy, expert testimony and real evidence exclusively in the criminal context. Prerequisite: Evidence.

Advanced Mediation (3 credit hours) 440. This course builds on the skills learned through the simulated experience of the basic Mediation course by providing an opportunity for students to have actual experience mediating disputes. The course includes three components: weekly class sessions; field work experience in mediation; and specialized training. Prerequisite: Mediation.

Advanced Tort Law (3 credit hours) 270. An advanced inquiry into selected topics of tort law which constitute specialized areas or applications of the topics covered in Basic Tort Law. Topics in this course include (but are not limited to) vicarious liability, tort liabilities of owners and occupiers of land, nuisance, products liability, tort immunity, statutory torts, defamation, invasion of privacy, and misrepresentation. Prerequisite: Torts.
Advanced Trial Advocacy (3 credit hours) 312. This course covers advanced exercises in the mechanics of trial and trial preparation. Students develop case plans and proof analyses consistent with the theory of the case. During the trial of several simulated cases, students address such complex trial problems as evidence retrieval in complex litigation, examination of medical and forensic expert witnesses, argument of motions during trial, and instructions conferences. Students are required to conduct detailed witness preparation exercises. There is extensive use of videotaping of student performances. The course also focuses on the techniques for effective communication in the courtroom. Prerequisites: Evidence and Trial Advocacy.

Antitrust (3 credit hours) 402. This course studies the legal efforts to maintain competition, focusing primarily on the Sherman and Clayton Acts' prohibitions on monopolization, monopoly, anti-competitive combinations, merger, and (horizontal and vertical) price and output agreements.

Appellate Technique (3 credit hours) 427. This course analyzes the appellate process, including the rules of appellate practice in state and federal courts, and the strategy and preparation of appellate briefs and oral arguments before an appellate court. Each student is required to complete written assignments and participate in mock oral arguments.

Arbitration (3 credit hours) 418. This course reviews informal dispute procedures for settling of private and public disputes, including grievance and award procedures.

Banking Law (3 credit hours) 458. This course gives an overview of the statutes, regulations and court decisions which govern the financial industry in the United States. Some aspects of international banking are also covered.

Bankruptcy (3 credit hours) 415. This course is devoted to a survey of the Federal Bankruptcy Code, including the trustee's power of avoidance, Chapter 13, debtor's right to discharge, federal tax liens, and priorities.

Business Organizations (3 credit hours) 102. This course provides a basic introduction to the modern American business corporation. Major subject areas covered include the steps required for organizing a corporation, the nature of the corporate entity concept, control and management of the corporation, fiduciary duties of directors and controlling shareholders and an introduction to federal securities law and partnership and agency law.

Business Planning (3 credit hours) 460. This course combines advanced work in business organizations, securities law and federal taxation in the context of business planning and counseling. Prerequisites: Business Organizations, Federal Income Taxation, and either Corporate Finance or Taxation of Corporations and Shareholders.

Business Transactions and Documentation (3 credit hours) 400. This course examines a variety of common commercial or business transactions and the documents necessary for their implementation. The emphasis is on contract drafting, with an integration of relevant concepts from the Uniform Commercial Code, the Internal Revenue Code, partnership, corporate, and real property law. Students are responsible for drafting the implementing documents and for researching and reporting on the current status of the legal issues which affect a given transaction. The documents to be drafted include real estate contracts, partnership agreements, promissory notes, security agreements, employment contracts, guarantees, and stock redemption agreements. Prerequisites: Business Organizations and Federal Income Taxation.
Civil Procedure (4 credit hours) 120. A basic survey of the fundamental principles which control the allocation and use of judicial power in the American legal system. The principal areas of inquiry include subject matter jurisdiction, personal jurisdiction, phases of a law suit, problems of diversity jurisdiction, and former adjudication.

Civil Rights (3 credit hours) 406. This course deals with the constitutional and statutory approaches to preventing discrimination. Primary emphasis is placed upon racial and gender discrimination, although other bases for discrimination also are considered. Prerequisites: Constitutional Process I and II.

Commercial Paper (3 credit hours) 310. This course focuses on the law of negotiable instruments (principally Articles Three and Four of the Uniform Commercial Code). Emphasis is placed on negotiability, transfer, the legal effect of endorsement, value, maturity, and good faith, real and personal defenses, acceptance and certification of checks, liability of parties secondarily liable on endorsement and on warranties, and discharge and bank collections.

Comparative Law (3 credit hours) 478. This course is designed to develop a better understanding of the Anglo-American legal system by comparing it with civil law and socialist legal systems.

Computer Law (3 credit hours) 340. GRADUATE LAW PROGRAMS
MASTER OF LAWS IN TAXATION
MASTER OF LAWS IN HEALTH LAW
MASTER OF LAWS IN TAXATION

DePaul University established its Master of Laws in Taxation Program in 1977 to meet the needs of tax practitioners in today's fast-changing and complex tax environment. The twenty courses comprising the Program encompass all areas of taxation and enable attorneys to acquire a broad knowledge of taxation while concentrating on areas of particular interest. The faculty consists of four full-time professors who are experienced practitioners, teachers and scholars, and eleven part-time instructors who, as practicing tax attorneys, bring a wealth of practical experience to the classroom.

The Tax Program benefits from the advice and assistance of a national Advisory Committee composed of prominent tax practitioners, IRS officials, tax scholars, and a member of the United States Tax Court (who is a College of Law alumnus). The Advisory Committee meets with the Tax Program faculty twice yearly to review course offerings and substantive tax issues.

In 1986 DePaul was selected by the United States Internal Revenue Service to be one of two law schools nationwide to participate in its visiting program. Through this program, an IRS attorney spent two semesters in residence at DePaul, teaching courses, giving presentations and engaging in research.

Classes are held in the evening at the College of Law, which is located in the heart of downtown Chicago. Courses are scheduled to permit students, if they wish, to attend two classes on a given evening. The Master of Laws in Taxation degree can be earned in one to five years, depending on the time devoted to study.

APPLICATION AND ADMISSION

Who may apply

All candidates for admission to the LL.M. in Taxation Program must hold a J.D. degree or its equivalent from a law school approved by the American Bar Association. Admission decisions are based on the applicant's professional background and law school record with a view toward determining whether or not the applicant is capable of doing superior academic work and pursuing the program to a successful conclusion.

The LL.M. in Taxation Program is administered by the College of Law. Unlike the Juris Doctor program, the LL.M. program has a policy of rolling admissions. Students may enter in the fall, spring or summer term. An application should be submitted at least two months prior to the beginning of the desired term.

Application for admission to the LL.M. program is made directly to the College of Law. For an application and more information write or telephone:

LL.M in Taxation Program
DePaul University College of Law
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604-2287
Telephone (312) 341-6831

Deposit

To secure a position in the entering class, an applicant must submit a non-refundable deposit of $50.00 upon admission. The deposit is applied toward the tuition of the first semester of classes.
CURRICULUM

Twenty courses in the significant areas of taxation law are taught by a faculty of legal scholars and practicing tax attorneys. Classes are held at the College of Law. To help students meet their professional commitments, classes are held in the evenings. Evening classes are arranged so that students, if they wish, can attend two classes on a given evening.

Master of Laws in Taxation (LL.M.) students may register in person or by mail. Students must receive permission from the Office of the Dean to register for more than six hours. Additional information on such matters as class attendance, credit, evaluation, grades and transcripts can be found in the J.D. Curriculum section.

In addition to taking the seven required courses listed below, each student must complete eight hours of elective course work. Twenty-eight hours of elective course work are offered:

*A survey course of Federal Income Taxation and a course in Estate and Gift Taxation will be required of all students who have not taken these courses in law school or who have graduated from law school more than three years before enrolling in the graduate program. All other students are exempted from these two courses and may not enroll in them without special permission.

These courses and all elective courses are described in the Course Descriptions.

Degree Requirements

A candidate for the degree of LL.M. in Taxation must earn a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.5 in 24 semester hours of course work within the program curriculum. A student automatically will be dismissed from the program if he or she has a cumulative grade point average of below 2.0 for any three consecutive semesters. Summer school is counted as a semester for this purpose.

Tax Research (2 credit hours) 532. This course examines the loose-leaf services, texts, treatises, legislative histories, judicial reporters and statutory material used in researching tax questions. It requires the completion of a major paper. Prerequisite: Federal Income Taxation.
MASTER OF LAWS IN HEALTH LAW

DePaul University College of Law inaugurated its Master of Laws in Health Law in 1987 to address the growing demand for lawyers with formal training in health law. The 18 courses which comprise the curriculum available to degree candidates encompass all the areas of health law and enable attorneys to acquire a broad knowledge of the field while concentrating on areas of particular interest.

To meet the growing need, DePaul University College of Law, through its Health Law Institute, instituted a program of special study and research leading to the degree of LL.M. in Health Law. This program involves a curriculum of health law courses in the College of Law, elective courses in health care finance and administration in the DePaul Department of Management of Public Services, and special seminars taught in cooperation with the Section of Law and Psychiatry of Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center.

The LL.M. in Health Law program will provide lawyers and recent law school graduates who practice, or are interested in entering the field of health law, an overview of the health law field as well as an in-depth study in the various areas of specialization.

Three full-time members of the DePaul law faculty teach in the program. In addition, eight adjunct faculty members who participate are practitioners, teachers, and scholars who bring a wealth of practical experience to the classroom. Classes are held in the evening at the College of Law. The LL.M. in Health Law can be earned in one to four years, depending on the time devoted to study.

APPLICATION AND ADMISSION

Who may apply

All candidates for admission to the LL.M. in Health Law must hold a J.D. degree from a law school approved by the American Bar Association. In appropriate circumstances, however, graduates of foreign law schools may be admitted. Admission to the program will be based on the applicant's professional background and law school record with a view toward determining whether the applicant is capable of doing superior academic work and of pursuing the program to successful conclusion.

An attorney not seeking a degree may take individual courses with the permission of the director of the program.

Application for admission to the LL.M. program is made directly to the College of Law. For an application and more information, write or telephone:

LL.M. in Health Law
DePaul University College of Law
25 East Jackson Boulevard
Chicago, Illinois 60604-2287
(312) 341-6831 or 6185

Applications for the Fall semester will be received up to the week before classes begin in August. Applications also will be considered for admission for Spring or Summer terms.

In addition to the completed application form, applicants are required to submit copies of the college and law school transcripts and two letters of recommendation from law professors or professional colleagues commenting on the scholastic qualifications and character of the applicant.
A non-refundable acceptance fee of $50 must be paid upon admission to the program. The deposit is applied toward the tuition of the first semester of classes.

CURRICULUM

Eighteen courses in the significant areas of health law are taught by a faculty of legal scholars, practicing attorneys and health law professionals and scholars. Classes are held at the College of Law.

Master of Laws (L.L.M.) students may register in person or by mail. Each student must enroll in the Master's Seminar in Health Law or in the Master's Essay course in the College of Law. A student must enroll in a minimum of six health law courses in the College of Law. A student may elect to enroll in two of the specified courses in health care and finance in the Department of Management of Public Services.

Degree Requirements

A candidate for the degree of Masters of Laws in Health Law must earn a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.5 in 24 semester hours of credit within the program. A student automatically will be dismissed from the program if he or she has a cumulative grade point average of below 2.0 for any three consecutive semesters. Summer school is counted as a semester for this purpose.
COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Health Law Legislative Drafting (3 credit hours) 416. The course involves drafting of proposed legislation and supporting memoranda under an instructor’s supervision. The work of students will form the basis of a conference with legislators, experts in the field selected as the topic, and concerned citizens. The objective is to develop a body of bills to be introduced in the state legislature.

Health Sciences and Public Policies (3 credit hours) 700. An investigation of statutory and judicial responses to selected areas of health care, including regulation of physicians, other health professionals and institutions, treatment of incapacitated persons, to treatment and refusal of treatment, voluntary surgical change, sterilization, contraception and abortion, and organ transplants.

Hospital Law (3 credits) 425. An overview of the common law and statutory law impacting institutions providing health care. Among subjects to be considered are: licensing and accreditation; organization of the institution and staff; staff privileges and their alteration by suspension or revocation; labor relations and employment discrimination; financing and corporate restructuring; tax and accounting problems; and federal legislation affecting reimbursement.

Law and Medicine (3 credit hours) 421. This course covers numerous topics concerning the interrelationship of law, health and medicine. Among these are regulation of the health care industry, professional responsibility to patients, choice of services and treatment, mental health and bio-ethical issues. The issues discussed in the seminar depend in large part on the interests of the class.

Law and Psychiatry (3 credit hours) 472. The course examines significant issues in law and psychiatry and involves in-depth research and writing. Subjects include regulation of mental health professionals, malpractice, informed consent, confidentiality, incompetency, guardianship, commitment and mental health issues related to the criminal law.

Medical-Legal Ethics (3 credit hours) 443. This course explores the interaction of law and ethics in providing the policy and moral limits of medical practice and science. The readings in the seminar are drawn from works in law, in philosophical and religious ethics, history, political science, as well as medicine and biology. The course includes discussion of the following topics: ethical dimensions of the physician-patient relationship; moral bases of medical ethics; regulation, compulsion, and consumer protection in clinical, medical and public health; truth-telling and the physician-patient relationship; medical experimentation on human subjects; procreation discussion; suffering and dying; rights and priorities in provision of medical care.
Professional and Institutional Fault of Health Care Providers (3 credit hours) 431. An examination of current issues of liability confronting health care personnel and institutions delivering health services. Topics include negligence (medical malpractice, issues of transfusion liability, failure to diagnose, withdrawal of life support systems, abandonment); intentional torts (informed consent, battery, libel, slander and rights of privacy issues involving medical records); professional liability coverage and self-insurance; utilization review and Diagnosis Related Groups (DRGs); the effect of statutory and judicial modification on malpractice litigation.

Public Health Law (3 credit hours) 434. An examination of the past and present aspects of the law concerning the health of the public by identifying the various governmental entities involved and reviewing specific areas of public health policy law, common law and regulation. The aspects covered include the federal basis for public health regulation, the state and local government basis for public health regulation, the constitutional and statutory limitations of the methods of public health regulation and current public health problems which require legal responses.

Reimbursement, Medicare and Medicaid (3 credit hours) 442. An examination of the types of reimbursement systems, including charge-based preferred provider organizations, cost-based reimbursement, prospective reimbursement, budget review, diagnosis-related groups, capitalization, case management. A study of Medicare including inpatient, outpatient and physician services; conditions of participation; co-payments and deductibles, conditions of participation for providers, fiscal intermediaries, utilization, and fraud and abuse. Medicaid including reimbursement principles, review activities, fraud and abuse and audits.

Science and Medicine in the Litigation Process (3 credit hours) 442. Uses of medical evidence, evidence of crime obtained by health care personnel during treatment, biological sciences evidence, and behavioral science evidence in various types of litigation.

Seminar in Health Law: Selected Topics (3 credit hours) 413. The course reflects current issues of public debate. Topics may include legal aspects of bio-genetics, experimentation and research in medicine, or antitrust issues in health law.

Tax Issues in the Health Care Industry (3 credit hours) 705. The study of federal income tax laws as applied to tax-exempt health care institutions; unrelated business income, private inurement, public charity and private foundation status; federal income tax laws as applied to corporate restructuring, tax-exempt financing, joint ventures, mergers and acquisitions, conversions and physician recruitment and retention programs of tax-exempt health care organizations; state and local taxes and tax-exempt aspects of the employment relationship.
